Home - Lived Experiences John Murungi,Linda Ardito,2021-10-20 This book explores the lived experience of being at home as well as being homeless Being at home or not is typically a matter of being at a place or not where such a place is carved out of space and designated as such It is a place that is both empirical and trans empirical When one is at home or not at home one typically has in mind an inhabited place To inhabit or not to inhabit it is to find oneself in a place that has an affective presence or absence In either case affectivity points to a lived place where lived experience is constituted and displayed Thus in this context affectivity becomes more than the subject of empirical psychology If psychology were to have access it would be in the context of phenomenological or existential psychology a psychology that has its roots in the sensible world and hence a psychology that expresses an aesthetic dimension Each of the contributors in this book extends an invitation to the readers to participate in constituting extending and sharing with others the sense of either being at home or of being homeless This book appeals to students researchers as well as general interest readers

Wren,2007-11-01 A distinguished former foreign correspondent embraces retirement by setting out alone on foot for nearly four hundred miles and explores a side of America nearly as exotic as the locales from which he once filed Traveling with an unwieldy pack and a keen curiosity Christopher Wren bids farewell to the New York Times newsroom in midtown Manhattan and saunters up Broadway through Harlem the Bronx and the affluent New York suburbs of Westchester and Putnam Counties As his trek takes him into the Housatonic River Valley of Connecticut the Berkshires of Massachusetts the Green Mountains of Vermont and along a bucolic riverbank in New Hampshire the strenuous challenges become as much emotional as physical Wren loses his way in a suburban thicket of million dollar mansions dodges speeding motorists seeks serenity at a convent shivers through a rainy night among Shaker ruins camps in a stranger s backyard panhandles cookies and water from a good samaritan absorbs the lore of the Appalachian and Long Trails sweats up and down mountains and lands in a hospital emergency room Struggling under the weight of a fifty pound pack he gripes We might grow less addicted to stuff if everything we bought had to be carried on our backs He hangs out with fellow wanderers named Old Rabbit Flash Gatorman Stray Dog and Buzzard and learns gratitude from the anonymous charity of trail angels His rite of passage into retirement with its heat and dust and blisters galore evokes vivid reminiscences of earlier risks taken sometimes at gunpoint during his years spent reporting from Russia China the Middle East Southeast Asia South America and Africa He loses track of time waking with the sun stopping to eat when hunger gnaws and camping under starry skies that transform the nights of solitude For all the self inflicted hardship he reports In fact I felt pretty good Wren has woven an intensely personal story that is candid and often downright hilarious As Vermont turns from a destination into a state of mind he concludes I had stumbled upon the secret of how utterly irrelevant chronological age is This book from the author of the acclaimed bestseller The Cat Who Covered the World will delight not just hikers walkers and other lovers of the outdoors but also anyone who contemplates retirement wonders about
