Study Guide For Terry Eagleton Ideology:

Allegory, Space and the Material World in the Writings of Edmund Spenser Christopher Burlinson, 2006 An examination of the way in which the material world is depicted in The Faerie Queene This book provides a radical reassessment of Spenserian allegory in particular of The Faerie Queene in the light of contemporary historical and theoretical interests in space and material culture It explores the ambiguous and fluctuating attention to materiality objects and substance in the poetics of The Faerie Queene and discusses the way that Spenser's creation of allegorical meaning makes use of this materiality and transforms it It suggests further that a critical engagement with materiality which has been so important to the recent study of early modern drama must come in the case of allegorical narrative through a study of narrative and physical space and in this context it goes on to provide a reading of the spatial dimensions of the poem quests and battles forests castles and hovels and the spatial characteristics of Spenser's other writings The book reaffirms the need to place Spenser in his historical contexts philosophical and scientific military and architectural in early modern England Ireland and Europe but also provides a critical reassessment of this literary historicism Dr CHRISTOPHER BURLINSON is a Research Fellow in English at Emmanuel College Cambridge

Encountering Religion Tyler Roberts, 2013-09-17 Tyler Roberts encourages scholars to abandon rigid conceptual oppositions between secular and religious to better understand how human beings actively and thoughtfully engage with their worlds and make meaning The artificial distinction between a self-conscious and critical academic study of religion and an ideological and authoritarian religion he argues only obscures the phenomenon Instead Roberts calls on intellectuals to approach the field as a site of encounter and response illuminating the agency creativity and critical awareness of religious actors To respond to religion is to ask what religious behaviors and representations mean to us in our individual worlds and scholars must confront questions of possibility and becoming that arise from testing their beliefs imperatives and practices Roberts refers to the work of Hent de Vries Eric Santner and Stanley Cavell each of whom exemplifies encounter and response in their writings as they traverse philosophy and religion to expose secular thinking to religious thought and practice This approach highlights the resources religious discourse can offer to a fundamental reorientation of critical thought In humanistic criticism after secularism the lines separating the creative the pious and the critical themselves become the subject of question and experimentation

Imperial Masochism John Kucich, 2009-01-10 British imperialism's favorite literary narrative might seem to be conquest But real British conquests also generated a surprising cultural obsession with suffering sacrifice defeat and melancholia There was writes John Kucich seemingly a different crucifixion scene marking the historical gateway to each colonial theater In Imperial Masochism Kucich reveals the central role masochistic forms of voluntary suffering played in late nineteenth century British thinking about imperial politics and class identity Placing the colonial writers Robert Louis Stevenson Olive Schreiner Rudyard Kipling and Joseph Conrad in their cultural context Kucich shows how the ideological and psychological dynamics of empire particularly its reorganization of class identities at the colonial periphery depended on figurations of masochism Drawing on recent psychoanalytic theory to define masochism in terms of narcissistic fantasies of omnipotence rather than sexual perversion the book illuminates how masochism mediates political thought of many different kinds not simply those that represent the social order as an opposition of mastery and submission or an eroticized drama of power differentials Masochism was a powerful psychosocial language that enabled colonial writers to articulate judgments about imperialism and class The first full length study of masochism in British colonial fiction Imperial Masochism puts forth new readings of this literature and shows the continued relevance of psychoanalysis to historicist studies of literature and culture Beyond Deconstruction Howard Felperin,1985 This book offers an account of the swiftly developing discipline of contemporary literary theory and of its consequences for future literary study Handbook of Computer Game Studies Joost Raessens,Jeffrey

Nyman,2022-02-28 This study examines masculinity and individualism in four American novels of the 1920s and 1930s usually regarded as belonging to the genre of hard boiled fiction The novels under study are Red Harvest by Dashiell Hammett The Postman Always Rings Twice by James M Cain They Shoot Horses Don t They by Horace McCoy and To Have and Have Not by Ernest Hemingway In this first full length study of gender in hard boiled fiction the genre is discussed as a representation of the ideologies of masculinity and individualism Hard boiled fiction is located in its historical and cultural context and it is argued that the genre with its explicit emphasis on masculinity and masculine virtues attempts to reaffirm a masculine order. The study argues that this emphasis is a counter reaction to more general changes in the gender relations of the period. Indeed, hard-boiled fiction is argued to be an attempt to reconstruct a masculine identity based on anti-modern values generally accepted in the cultural context of the genre.

The Practice of Theory Keith Moxey, 2018-07-05. Many art historians regard poststructuralist theory with suspicion; some even see its focus on the political dimension of language as hostile to an authentic study of the past. Keith Moxey bridges the gap between historical and theoretical approaches with the provocative argument that we cannot have one without the other. If art history is to take part in the processes of cultural transformation that characterize our society, he writes, then its historical narratives must come to terms with the most powerful and influential theories that currently determine the way in which we conceive of ourselves. After exploring how the insights offered by deconstruction and semiotics change our understanding of representation, ideology, and authorship, Moxey himself puts theory into practice. In a series of engaging essays accompanied by twenty-eight illustrations, he first examines the impact of cultural values on Erwin Panofsky's writings. Taking a fresh look at work by artists from Albrecht Dürer and Erhard Schön to Barbara Kruger and Julian Schnabel, he then examines the process by which the generic boundaries between high and low art have helped to sustain class and gender differences. Making particular reference to the literature on Martin Schongauer, Moxey also considers the value of art history when it is reduced to an artist's biography. Moxey's interpretation of the work of Hieronymus Bosch not only reassesses its intelligence and imagination but also brings to light its pragmatic conformity to elite definitions of artistic genius. With his compelling analysis of the politics of interpretation, Moxey draws attention to a vital aspect of the cultural importance of history.

A Marxist Critique of Latin American Colonial Studies Malcolm K. Read, 2019-01-21. During the mid-1980s, Latin American colonial studies came to be dominated by the various post-movements: post-structuralism, post-modernism, post-Marxism, characterized by their promotion of discursivity as the ultimate horizon of sociality. This volume confronts discourse theory and examples of its colonial application with an alternative Althusserian problematic that foregrounds modes of production and class struggle to which end it further promotes a view of colonial societies as split not along a horizontal geographic axis that offsets the New World against Europe but vertically through the opposition between dominant tributary feudal formations and their emergent capitalist equivalent. Its fundamental claim is that the radical-sounding rhetoric of the various post-movements, far from energizing the politics of resistance to the forces of imperialism, actually greases the mechanisms of finance capital.

The Objects and Textures of Everyday Life in Imperial Britain Professor Deirdre H. McMahon, Professor Janet C. Myers, 2016-01-28. Focusing on everyday life in nineteenth century Britain and its imperial possessions from preparing tea to cleaning the kitchen from packing for imperial adventures to arranging home decor the essays in this collection share a common focus on materiality the nitty gritty elements that helped give shape and meaning to British self definition during the period Each essay demonstrates how preoccupations with common household goods and habits fueled contemporary debates about cultural institutions ranging from personal matters of marriage and family to more overtly political issues of empire building While existing scholarship on material culture in the nineteenth century has centered on artifacts in museums and galleries this collection brings together disparate fields history of design landscape history childhood studies and feminist and postcolonial literary studies to focus on ordinary objects and practices with specific attention to how Britons of all classes established the tenets of domesticity as central to individual happiness national security and imperial hegemony Speaking Two Languages Allen J. Frantzen, 1991-02-12 This book is designed for the medievalist interested in contemporary criticism but cautious about its limits The volume's essays are not designed to offer rereadings of familiar texts but to address the problems of articulating tradition and contemporary theory Each contributor interprets critical methods as consciously chosen and spoken languages and explores the consequences of combining a traditional and a contemporary method and hence speaking two languages Each essay includes a critical bibliographical note pointing to further reading in the languages it employs Women's Oppression Today Michèle Barrett, 2014-08-12 Women's Oppression Today is a classic text in the debate about Marxism and feminism exploring how gender sexuality and the family household system operate in relation to contemporary capitalism In this updated edition Michelle Barrett surveys the social and intellectual changes that have taken place since the book's original publication and looks back at the political climate in which the book was written In a major new essay she defends the central arguments of the book at the same time addressing the way such an engagement would play out differently today over thirty years later A foreword by Kathi Weeks examines the importance of approaching all feminist theories as events whose repercussions stretch beyond the circumstances of their creation Intersections

Tilottama Rajan, David L. Clark, 1995-01-13 Focusing on nineteenth century philosophers from Schelling and Hegel to Nietzsche and on contemporary theorists from Derrida to Kristeva and Lyotard the essays in this book suggest that the two areas are most similar at the points where they seem most unlike Tracing the links of contemporary thought to its nineteenth century precursors the authors explore such issues as the re theorizing of history and the subject the limits and persistence of the metaphysical and the ends of theory A History of Italian Fascist Culture, 1922-1943 Alessandra

Tarquini, 2022-04-12 Alessandra Tarquini's A History of Italian Fascist Culture 1922-1943 is widely recognized as an authoritative synthesis of the field The book was published to much critical acclaim in 2011 and revised and expanded five years later This long awaited translation presents Tarquini's compact clear prose to readers previously unable to read it in the original Italian Tarquini sketches the universe of Italian fascism in three broad directions the regime's cultural policies the condition of various art forms and scholarly disciplines and the ideology underpinning the totalitarian state She details the choices the ruling class made between 1922 and 1943 revealing how cultural policies shaped the country and how intellectuals and artists contributed to those decisions The result is a view of fascist ideology as a system of visions ideals and above all myths capable of orienting political action and promoting a precise worldview Building on George L Mosse s foundational research Tarquini provides the best single volume work available to fully understand a complex and challenging subject It reveals how the fascists used culture art cinema music theater and literature to build a conservative revolution that purported to protect the traditional social fabric while presenting itself as maximally oriented toward the future The Humanities: Methodology And Perspectives, 2/E Kundu Abhijit,2010-09 Encyclopedia of Communication Theory Stephen W. book examines how territorial civilisational and cultural location determines one's gaze and attitude while representing a contested space like Tibet. It analyses representations of Tibet in three novels: James Hilton's Lost Horizon (1933), Jamyang Norbu's The Mandala of Sherlock Holmes (1999) and Kaushik Barua's Windhorse (2013). It shows how these novels project different types of gaze: insider/outsider and insider/outsider, and explores them within the context of some contemporary Tibetan activist writers. The book also looks at Tibetan exilic writings and virtual activities of the Tibetan activists whose programmes and rhetoric counter the age-old image of the Tibetans as passive and non-violent people. It shows how activists utilise social networking as an effective platform to counter imperialist occupation of Tibet by China. It includes interviews of eight Anglophone Tibetan writers: Tenzin Tsundue, Thubten Samphel, Tsering Namgyal, Khortsa Tsering, Wangmo Dhompa, Jamyang Norbu, Tenzin Dickie, Bhuchung D. Sonam, and an Indian writer who has written on Tibet, Kaushik Barua. Interdisciplinary, accessible and engaging, this book presents one of the first studies on how Tibet has been represented in English fiction. It will be of interest to scholars and researchers of literature, media and cultural studies, politics, history and China studies.
