Fiction for Children Fiona M. Collins,Judith Graham,2013-10-18 Historical fiction has a great deal to offer as its readers and devotees have always known The time is ripe however for the historical novel and historical picture book to be promoted more emphatically so that many more are made aware of the delight and learning to be found in the genre The editors of this book invited authors academic writers and teachers to reflect on the nature scope range and richness of historical fiction for children What is collected here provides an overview of the field a consideration of significant writers of historical fiction from the nineteenth century onwards a sense of the various historical eras commonly explored Stone Age to World War 2 a discussion of commonly raised issues themes and topics such as child labor slavery and migration and a forum for writers to reveal their insights into the writing of historical fiction Julian Atterton Berlie Doherty Michael Foreman and Philip Pullman have made contributions It provides evidence of children and students engaging creatively with historical fiction

Next-Generation Memory and Ukrainian Canadian Children's Historical Fiction Mateusz Świetlicki,2023-03-24 This is the first book monograph devoted to Anglophone Ukrainian Canadian children s historical fiction published between 1991 and 2021 It consists of five chapters offering cross sectional and interdisciplinary readings of 41 books novels novellas picturebooks short stories and a graphic novel The first three chapters focus on texts about the complex process of becoming Ukrainian Canadian showcasing the experiences of the first two waves of Ukrainian immigration to Canada including encounters with Indigenous Peoples and the First World War Internment The last two chapters are devoted to the significance of the cultural memory of the Holodomor the Great Famine of 1932 1933 and the Second World War for Ukrainian Canadians All the chapters demonstrate the entanglements of Ukrainian and Canadian history and point to the role Anglophone children s literature can play in preventing the symbolical seeds of memory from withering This volume argues that reading imagining and reimagining history can lead to the formation of beyond textual next generation memory Such memory created through reading is multidimensional as it involves the interpretation of both the present and the past by an individual whose reality has been directly or indirectly shaped by the past over which they have no influence Next generation memory is of anticipatory character which means that authors of historical fiction anticipate the readers both present day and future not to have direct links to any witnesses of the events they discuss and to have little knowledge of the transcultural character of the Ukrainian Canadian diaspora Contemporary Historical Fiction, Exceptionalism and

Community Susan Strehle,2020-10-19 This book analyzes a significant group of contemporary historical fictions that represent damaging even catastrophic times for people and communities written after the wreck they recall instructive pasts The novels chronicle wars slavery racism child abuse and genocide they reveal damages that ensue when nations claim an exalted exceptionalist identity and violate the human rights of their Others In sympathy with the exiled writers of these contemporary historical fictions create alternative communities on the state's outer fringes. These fictive communities include where the state excludes; they foreground relations of debt and obligation to the group in place of individualism, competition, and private property. Rather than assimilating members to a single identity with a unified set of views, the communities open multiple possibilities for belonging. Analyzing novels from Britain, Australia, and the U.S. along with additional transnational examples, Susan Strehle explores the political vision animating some contemporary historical fictions. The Forms of Historical Fiction Harry E. Shaw, 2018-03-15 Harry Shaw's aim is to promote a fuller understanding of nineteenth-century historical fiction by revealing its formal possibilities and limitations. His wide-ranging book establishes a typology of the ways in which history was used in prose fiction during the nineteenth century, examining major works by Sir Walter Scott, the first modern historical novelist, and by Balzac, Hugo, Anatole France, Eliot, Thackeray, Dickens, and Tolstoy. Possible Worlds: Theory and Counterfactual Historical Fiction Riyukta Raghunath, 2020-09-10 This book offers a comprehensive Possible Worlds framework with which to analyse counterfactual historical fiction. Counterfactual historical fiction is a literary genre that comprises narratives set in worlds whose histories run contrary to the history of our world, usually speculating on what would have happened had a significant historical event, such as a war, turned out differently. The author develops a systematic critical approach based on a customised model of Possible Worlds Theory, supplemented by cognitive concepts that account for the different processes that readers go through when they read counterfactual historical fiction, a genre which relies heavily on pre-existing knowledge about history and culture. This book will be of interest to anyone working with Possible Worlds, including within the fields of philosophy, literary studies, stylistics, cognitive poetics, and narratology. Travel and Colonialism in 21st Century Romantic Historical Fiction Paloma Fresno-Calleja, Hsu-Ming Teo, 2024-12-16 Romantic fiction has often involved stories of travel. In narratives of the journey towards love, romance often involves encounters with exotic places and peoples. When history is invoked in such stories, the past itself is exoticised and treated as other to the present to serve the purposes of romanticisation, a narrative strategy by which all manner of things, settings, characters, costumes, customs, consumables are made to perform a luxuriant otherness that amplifies the experience of love. This volume questions the reparative function of Anglophone romantic historical fiction, to ask: can plots of travel and discourses of tourism empower women while narrating stories of healing for the wounds of the past? This is the first volume to consider how romanticised and exoticised women's historical fiction not only serves the purposes of armchair travel but may also replicate colonial discourse, unintentionally positioning readers as neocolonial, neo-Orientalist cultural voyeurs as well as voyagers. The Female Figure in Contemporary Historical Fiction K. Cooper, E. Short, 2012-10-29 From The Other Boleyn Girl to Fingersmith, this collection explores the popularity of female-centred historical novels in recent years. It asks how these representations are influenced by contemporary gender politics and whether they can be seen as part of a wider feminist project to recover women's history. Exoticizing the Past in Contemporary Neo-Historical Fiction E. Rousselot, 2014-11-13 This collection of essays is dedicated to examining the recent literary phenomenon of the neo historical novel a sub genre of contemporary historical fiction which critically re imagines specific periods of history

Heroines of the Postmodern and their Worlds in Contemporary Historical Fiction Alicja Bembien,Michael Joseph,2025-09-29 This volume focuses on historical fiction written by and for women approximately in the last 30 years and across the entire globe It comprises three parts Part 1 draws on the theme of the inner life and experiences of the female historical figure Part 2 is concerned with genre bending that fuels the construction of the vast majority of story worlds within the genre and Part 3 with the idea of unusual angles that the historical fiction storytelling employs

Re-visioning Historical Fiction for Young Readers Kim Wilson,2011-06-15 This study is concerned with how readers are positioned to interpret the past in historical fiction for children and young adults Looking at literature published within the last thirty to forty years Wilson identifies and explores a prevalent trend for re visioning and rewriting the past according to modern social and political ideological assumptions Fiction within this genre while concerned with the past at the level of content is additionally concerned with present views of that historical past because of the future to which it is moving Specific areas of discussion include the identification of a new sub genre Living history fiction stories of Joan of Arc historical fiction featuring agentic females the very popular Scholastic Press historical journal series fictions of war and historical fiction featuring multicultural discourses Wilson observes specific traits in historical fiction written for children most notably how the notion of positive progress into the future is nuanced differently in this literature in which the concept of progress from the past is inextricably linked to the protagonist s potential for agency and the realization of subjectivity The genre consistently manifests a concern with identity construction that in turn informs and influences how a metanarrative of positive progress is played out This book engages in a discussion of the functionality of the past within the genre and offers an interpretative frame for the sifting out of the present from the past in historical fiction for young readers
