

The background is a painting of a rugged coastline. In the center, a dark, craggy rock formation rises from the sea. A small figure of a person is perched on a ledge of this rock. The ocean is dark and turbulent, with white foam from waves crashing against the base of the rocks and the shore in the foreground. The sky is a mix of pale blue and grey, suggesting an overcast day. The overall style is painterly and atmospheric.

Romantic Responses to Revolution through Miltonic Ideas of the Fall explores the influence of John Milton's epic poem Paradise Lost on a range of Romantic and post Romantic writers Specifically the book examines the way in which these writers use the Fall and the notion of fallenness as envisioned in Paradise Lost as a model for writing about their roles as poets writers in periods of political and cultural turmoil This book will be of value to undergraduate and postgraduate students of English Literature with a specific interest in the Romantics The writers and texts featured including the big six of Romantic poets and three canonical novels of the early nineteenth century are very widely studied on English Literature courses across the UK US and Europe This makes the book an ideal reference text or inspiration point for essays coursework and theses while the concise and accessible style should be especially appealing for undergraduates and lecturers looking for an approachable overview of Romantic responses to revolution and the influence of Milton The Rise and Fall of the Victorian Three-Volume Novel Troy J. Bassett,2020-02-07 Utilizing recent developments in book history and digital humanities this book offers a cultural economic and literary history of the Victorian three volume novel the prestige format for the British novel during much of the nineteenth century With the publication of Walter Scott's popular novels in the 1820s the three volume novel became the standard format for new fiction aimed at middle class audiences through the support of circulating libraries Following a quantitative analysis examining who wrote and published these novels the book investigates the success of publisher Richard Bentley in producing three volume novels the experiences of the W H Smith circulating library in distributing them the difficulties of authors such as Robert Louis Stevenson and George Moore in writing them and the resistance of new publishers such as Arrowsmith and Unwin to publishing them Rather than faltering the three volume novel stubbornly endured until its abandonment in the 1890s Teaching Literature Using Dialogic Literary Argumentation

Matt Seymour,Theresa Thanos,George E. Newell,David Bloome,2020-04-23 Introducing a new framework for teaching and learning literature in secondary schools this book presents Dialogic Literary Argumentation as an inquiry based approach to engage students in communicating and exploring ideas about literature As a process of discovery Dialogic Literary Argumentation facilitates conversation arguing to learn as a method to support students diverse perspectives and engagement with one another in order to develop individual and collective understandings of literature and their place in the world Covering both the theoretical foundation and application of this method this book demonstrates how to apply Dialogic Literary Argumentation to teach literature in a way that foregrounds dialogue learning through inquiry diverse views listening to others and engagement with our communities Ideal for preservice teachers in literacy methods courses and
