

ESSAY TYPES

ARGUMENTATIVE

The aim here is to convince. Present an argument with a supporting body of evidence (can include statistic, theories, articles etc), which demonstrates thorough comprehension of the topic. Also includes an understanding of alternative arguments and an acknowledgment of any objects, with counter arguments as to why the presented point is correct.

COMPARATIVE

Sometimes can be described as compare and/or contrast essays. Identify the similarities and differences in two or more ideas, notions, books, poems, theories etc. demonstrate the strength and weaknesses of the options. May be asked to determine which is better in which case do so and justify choice.

DESCRIPTIVE

This style aims to paint a picture. Description and explanation of the main points and facts of a topic, with a critical examination of the strengths and limitations.

SUMMARIES

This essay type is condensed and concise composition of an original longer text, outlining the main facts but leaving out details or drawn out elaborations.

CRITICAL ANALYSIS

The intention of this essay style is to come to a reasoned judgment on a topic. Present supporting information around the topic, determining strength and weaknesses, possible issues or advantages. State final conclusion and what the implications might be.

REVIEWS

Description of a topic, idea, or text including contextual information, summaries of the main points and relevant thoughts and theories about the subject. Present an assessment of the information, its strengths and weakness and its contribution to the field.

PROCESS

Most commonly found in the sciences, this essay style details and explains the proceedings of something in chronological order such as an experiment. Usually followed by the results and a short discussion of the process and the implications.

Don't Know Can Keep You Out of College Don Dunbar, G.F. Lichtenberg, 2007-07-05 In the tradition of The Gatekeepers a veteran counselor provides the missing key to the college admissions door with insider wisdom about how admissions committees think and the thirteen fatal mistakes that can ruin an application When Don Dunbar was a college counselor for Phillips Academy Andover in the 1980s he got to sit in on the meetings where the nation's top colleges decided whether to admit his students Prep school counselors no longer get this kind of astonishing access but in those meetings Don discovered a little known key to college admissions that still holds true today Many applicants look alike based on their grades test scores and extracurriculars so colleges want something more They want applicants with character Most of us know what character means but not in the way that admissions officers define it Admissions officers have tremendous integrity and to them character equals what a student will contribute to his or her community good or bad over the next four years Don explains the concept of character in terms that high school students can understand using examples from his thirty years of working with kids He shows readers how to avoid the thirteen fatal character mistakes that even the brightest students make when applying to college and democratizes the admissions process making his advice available to all students Law School
