Does Religious Education Have a Future? Mark Chater, Clive

Erricker, 2013-05-07 The place of religion in the modern world has changed significantly over the past two decades This has been partially reflected in the academic study of religion but little if at all in religious education In addition the place of RE in schools has been the subject of intense debate due to changes to the curriculum and school structure as well as being part of wider debates on religion in the public sphere Written by two highly experienced leading practitioners of RE Does Religious Education have a Future argues for a radical reform of the subject based on principles of pedagogy set free from religious concerns It challenges teachers researchers and educators to rethink their approaches to and assumptions about religious education and enables them to see their work in a larger context that includes pedagogical ideas and political forces The book offers readers fresh provocative and expertly informed critical perspectives on the global context of RE debates about religion in public places religion's response to modernity violent extremism science and secularism the evolving educational rationale for RE in schools the legal arrangements for RE and their impact on the teaching of the subject the pedagogy of teaching approaches in RE and their effect on standards and perceptions of the subject the educational commitment of faith belief communities and how this influences the performance of RE Does Religious Education have a Future proposes a new attitude to the subject of religious education and a new configuration of both its role and content This book is essential reading for academics advisers and policy makers as well as teachers of RE at primary and secondary levels and trainee and newly qualified teachers Exploring Context in Religious Education Research Geir Skeie, Judith Everington, Ina ter Avest, Siebren Miedema, 2013

The relevance of contextual perspectives in religious education has been growing for the last decade It has been central to the European Network for Religious Education through Contextual Approaches ENRECA the research network that has produced the present book Several members of the network have contributed to the theoretical and empirical development of contextual approaches in different publications but for the first time this has been the focus of an entire collectively produced volume The history of the book dates back to research seminars in 2009 and 2010 and is based on the discussions in the seminar The chapters have been developed through a process of critical examination Through this process we believe to have produced a coherent and also comprehensively rich book dealing with the issue of context as a challenge and also a stimulus to religious education research and practice The chapters are presenting both empirical research and scholarly investigation into methodological and theoretical dimensions Taken together we hope that this book will contribute to the further development of contextual thinking in religious education research Or aim has not been to answer all questions but rather to pose questions and to complicate things in order to enrich the academic field of religion in education Decolonising African University Knowledges, Volume 1 Amasa P. Ndofirepi, Felix Maringe, Simon Vurayai, Gloria Erima, 2022-10-14 This timely work investigates the possibility of unyoking and decolonising African university knowledges from colonial relics It claims that academics from socially politically and geographically underprivileged communities in the South need to have their voices heard outside of the global power structure The book argues that African universities need a relevant curriculum that is related to the cultural and environmental experiences of diverse African learners in order to empower themselves and transform the world. It is written by African scholars and is based on theoretical and practical debates on the epistemological complexities affecting and afflicting diversity in higher education in Africa. It examines who are the primary custodians of African university knowledges as well as how this relates to forms of exclusion affecting women, the differently abled, the rural poor and ethnic minorities as well as the significance of the Fourth Industrial Revolution in the future of African universities. The book takes an epistemological approach to university teaching and learning addressing issues such as decolonization and identity, social closure and diversity disputes and the obstacles that come with the neoliberal paradigm. The book will be necessary reading for academics, scholars and postgraduate students in the fields of Sociology of Education, decolonising education, Inclusive Education and Philosophy of Education as it resonates with existing discourses.

Political and Civic Engagement Martyn Barrett, Bruna Zani, 2014-11-27. Based upon a three year multi-disciplinary international research project, Political and Civic Participation examines the interplay of factors affecting civic and political engagement and participation across different generations, nations and ethnic groups and the shifting variety of forms that participation can take. The book draws upon an extensive body of data to answer the following key questions: Why do many citizens fail to vote in elections? Why are young people turning increasingly to street demonstrations, charitable activities, consumer activism and social media to express their political and civic views? What are the barriers which hinder political participation by women, ethnic minorities and migrants? How can greater levels of engagement with public issues be encouraged among all citizens? Together the chapters in this volume provide a comprehensive overview of current understandings of the factors and processes which influence citizens' patterns of political and civic engagement. They also present a set of evidence-based recommendations for policy practice and intervention that can be used by political and civil society actors to enhance levels of engagement, particularly among youth, women, ethnic minorities and migrants. Political and Civic Participation provides an invaluable resource for all those who are concerned with citizens' levels of engagement, including researchers and academics across the social sciences, politicians and political institutions, media professionals, educational professionals and schools, youth workers and education NGOs and leaders of ethnic minority and migrant organizations and communities.
