The Everyday Edited By Stephen Johnstone:

Tokyo Vernacular Jordan Sand, 2013-07-19 Preserved buildings and historic districts museums and reconstructions have become an important part of the landscape of cities around the world Beginning in the 1970s Tokyo participated in this trend However repeated destruction and rapid redevelopment left the city with little building stock of recognized historical value Late twentieth century Tokyo thus presents an illuminating case of the emergence of a new sense of history in the city s physical environment since it required both a shift in perceptions of value and a search for history in the margins and interstices of a rapidly modernizing cityscape Scholarship to date has tended to view historicism in the postindustrial context as either a genuine response to loss or as a cynical commodification of the past The historical process of Tokyo s historicization suggests other interpretations Moving from the politics of the public square to the invention of neighborhood community to oddities found and appropriated in the streets to the consecration of everyday scenes and artifacts as heritage in museums Tokyo Vernacular traces the rediscovery of the past sometimes in unlikely forms in a city with few traditional landmarks Tokyo s rediscovered past was mobilized as part of a new politics of the everyday after the failure of mass politics in the 1960s Rather than conceiving the city as national center and claiming public space as national citizens the post 1960s generation came to value the local places and things that embodied the vernacular language of the city and to seek what could be claimed as common property outside the spaces of corporate capitalism and the state sense of the linkages between boredom and everyday life in the modern world Transformations in Social Science Research Methods during the COVID-19 Pandemic J. Michael Ryan, Valerie Visanich, Gaspar Brändle, 2024-07-11 This

The Everyday Stephen Johnstone, 2008 Half Sound, Half Philosophy Jing Wang, 2021-01-14 From the late 1990s until today China's sound practice has been developing in an increasingly globalized socio political aesthetic milieu receiving attentions and investments from the art world music industry and cultural institutes with nevertheless its unique acoustic philosophy remaining silent This book traces the history of sound practice from contemporary Chinese visual art back in the 1980s to electronic music which was introduced as a target of critique in the 1950s to electronic instrument building fever in the late 1970s and early 1980s and to the origins of both academic and nonacademic electronic and experimental music activities This expansive tracing of sound in the arts resonates with another goal of this book to understand sound and its artistic practice through notions informed by Chinese qi cosmology and qi philosophy including notions of resonance shanshui mountains waters huanghu elusiveness and evasiveness and distributed monumentality and anti monumentality By turning back to deep history to learn about the meaning and function of sound and listening in ancient China the book offers a refreshing understanding of the British sinologist Joseph Needham's statement that Chinese acoustics is acoustics of qi and expands existing conceptualization of sound art and contemporary music at large The Taste of Art Silvia

Bottinelli, Margherita d'Ayala Valva, 2017-06-01 The Taste of Art offers a sample of scholarly essays that examine the role of food in Western contemporary art practices. The contributors are scholars from a range of disciplines including art history, philosophy, film studies, and history. As a whole, the volume illustrates how artists engage with food as matter and process in order to explore alternative aesthetic strategies and indicate countercultural shifts in society. The collection opens by exploring the theoretical intersections of art and food, food art's historical root in Futurism, and the ways in which food carries gendered meaning in popular film. Subsequent sections analyze the ways in which artists challenge mainstream ideas through food in a variety of scenarios. Beginning from a focus on the body and subjectivity, the authors zoom out to look at the domestic sphere and finally the public sphere. Here are essays that study a range of artists including, among others, Filippo Tommaso Marinetti, Daniel Spoerri, Dieter Roth, Joseph Beuys, Al Ruppertsberg, Alison Knowles, Martha Rosler, Robin Weltsch, Vicki Hodgetts, Paul McCarthy, Luciano Fabro, Carries Mae Weems, Peter Fischli, and David Weiss. Janine Antoni, Elbieta Jabłonska, Liza Lou, Tom Marioni, Rirkrit Tiravanija, Michael Rakowitz, and Natalie Jeremijenko. Everyday Fashion Bethan Bide, Jade Halbert, Liz Tregenza, 2023-12-28 Ordinary clothes have extraordinary stories. In contrast to academic and curatorial focus on the spectacular and the luxurious, Everyday Fashion makes the case that your grandmother's wardrobe is an archive as interesting and important as any museum store. From the moment we wake and get dressed in the morning until we get undressed again in the evening, fashion is a central medium through which we experience the world and negotiate our place within it. Because of this, the ways that supposedly ordinary and everyday fashion objects have been designed, manufactured, worn, cared for, and remembered matter deeply to our historical understanding. Beginning at 1550, the start of an era during which the word fashion came to mean stylistic change rather than the act of making, each chapter explores the definition of everyday fashion and how this has changed over time, demonstrating innovative methodologies for researching the everyday. The variety and significance of everyday fashion cultures are further highlighted by a series of illustrated object biographies written by Britain's leading fashion curators, showcasing the rich diversity of everyday fashion in British museum collections. Collectively, this volume scratches below the glossy surface of fashion to expose the mechanics of fashion business, the hidden world of the workroom, and the diversity and role of makers and the experiences of consuming, wearing, and caring for ordinary clothes in the United Kingdom from the 16th century to the present day. In doing so, it challenges readers to rethink how fashion systems evolve and to reassess the boundaries between fashion and dress scholarship. Martha Rosler Rosalyn Deutsche, Elena Volpato, Martha Rosler, Jewish Museum (New York, N.Y.), 2018-01-01 The politically engaged work of Martha Rosler is fascinating and provocative; this wide-ranging survey brings timely insights at a moment of resurgence for political activism and feminism. Collective and Collaborative Drawing in Contemporary Practice Helen Gørrill, Jill Journeaux, 2018-01-23 Whilst both collective and collaborative drawing is being widely explored internationally, both within and beyond educational institutions, there is surprisingly little serious research published on the topic This realisation led to the first international Drawing Conversations Symposium accompanied by the Drawn Conversations Exhibition at Coventry University UK in December 2015 The two events drew a strong and global response and brought together a wide range of participants including academics artists researchers designers architects and doctoral students This book considers what happens and how when people draw together either in the form of a collaboration or through a collective process The contributions here serve to establish the field of collective and collaborative drawing as distinct from the types of drawing undertaken by artists designers and architects within a professional context The volume covers conversations through the act of drawing collaborative drawing drawing communities and alternative drawing collaborations

Concerning Stephen Willats and the Social Function of Art Sharon Irish, 2020-12-10 This book on Stephen Willats pulls together key strands of his practice and threads them through histories of British cybernetics experimental art and urban design For Willats a cluster of concepts about control and feedback within living and machine systems cybernetics offered a new means to make art relevant For decades Willats has built relationships through art with people in tower blocks underground clubs middle class enclaves and warehouses on the Isle of Dogs to investigate their current conditions and future possibilities Sharon Irish's study demonstrates the power of Willats's multi media art to catalyze communication among participants and to upend ideas about audience and art Here Irish argues that it is artists like Willats who are now the instigators of social transformation

The Migrant's Time Saloni Mathur, 2011-09-27 The conditions of alienation and exclusion are inextricably linked to the experience of the migrant This ground breaking volume explores both the increasing emergence of the theme of migration as a dominant subject matter in art as well as the ways in which the varied mobilities of a globalized world have radically reshaped art's conditions of production reception and display In a wide ranging selection of essays fourteen distinguished scholars in the fields of visual studies art history literary studies global studies and art criticism explore the universality of conditions of global migration and interdependence inviting a rethinking of existing perspectives in postcolonial transnational and diaspora studies and laying the foundation for empirical and theoretical directions beyond the terms of these traditional frameworks

Incurable-Image Tarek Elhaik, 2016-02-12 From the 1990s onwards the ethnographic turn in contemporary art has generated intense dialogues between anthropologists artists and curators While ethnography has been both generously and problematically re appropriated by the art world curation has seldom caught the conceptual attention of anthropologists Based on two years of participant observation in Mexico City Tarek Elhaik addresses this lacuna by examining the concept work of curatorial platforms and media artists Taking his cue from ongoing critiques of Mexicanist aesthetics and what Roger Bartra calls the post Mexican condition Elhaik conceptualises curation less as an exhibition oriented practice within a national culture than as a figure of care and an image of thought animating a complex assemblage of inter medial practices from experimental cinema and installations to curatorial collaborations Drawing on Gilles Deleuze and Paul Rabinow the book introduces the concept of the Incurable

Image an antidote to our curatorial malaise and the ethical substance for a post social anthropology of images

Artist-Parents in Contemporary Art Barbara Kutis, 2020-05-14 This book examines the increasing intersections of art and parenting from the late 1990s to the early 2010s when constructions of masculine and feminine identities as well as the structure of the family underwent radical change Barbara Kutis asserts that the championing of the simultaneous linkage of art and parenting by contemporary artists reflects a conscientious self fashioning of a new kind of identity one that she calls the artist parent By examining the work of three artists Guy Ben Ner El bieta Jab o ska and the collective Mothers and Fathers this book reveals how these artists have engaged with the domestic and personal in order to articulate larger issues of parenting in contemporary life This book will be of interest to scholars in art and gender gender studies contemporary art and art history

Art in the City, the City in Art Elisha Masemann, 2024-03-31 This Book examines an interplay between discourses on the city that stress the need for rational functional order and art s imaginative deviations from the topdown structures of urban life Moving between theory and praxis the book situates the city as both a concept and physical construct through which lives and possibilities are shaped or defined In response certain modalities of art create spontaneous non rational and playful interludes that risk escape from the urban apparatus and a hyper valorisation of rational order A three part framework is used to discuss this push pull dynamic and to assess the strategies of shock performative embodiment and intervention that emerged in post war art movements and in contemporary performance and participatory art practices The book examines how the disturbances introduced by artists throw the city construct into sharp relief making it visible and activating momentary encounters where new modes of expression can emerge This Book offers a new approach to interdisciplinary studies of art and urbanity The book aims to delineate how the city as concept and construct is made visible through artistic practice and in turn challenged or interrogated Students researchers and professionals with an interest in the interaction between art and urban studies will discover a new perspective on how urban conditions and issues have been addressed through artistic practice The book contributes to an evolving discourse in the urban humanities through an exposition of the city s default construct that is made visible or reimaged through visual art in public spaces

Rural Modernity, Everyday Life and Visual Culture Rosemary Shirley, 2016-03-03 Through the lens of the everyday this book explores the countryside as an inhabited and practised realm with lived rhythms and routines It relocates the topography of everyday life from its habitually urban focus out into the English countryside The rural is often portrayed as existing outside of modernity or as its passive victim Here the rural is recast as an active and complex site of modernity a shift which contributes alternative ways of thinking the rural and a new perspective on the everyday In each chapter pieces of visual culture including scrapbooks art works adverts photographs and films are presented as tools of analysis which articulate how aspects of the everyday might operate differently in non metropolitan places The book features new readings of the work of significant artists and photographers such as Jeremy Deller and Alan Kane Stephen Willats Anna Fox Andrew Cross Tony Ray

The Past is the Present; It's the Future Too Christine Ross, 2012-06-28 The term temporality often refers to the traditional mode of the way time is a linear procession of past present and future As philosophers will note this is not always the case Christine Ross builds on current philosophical and theoretical examinations of time and applies them to the field of contemporary art films video installations sculpture and performance works Ross first provides an interdisciplinary overview of contemporary studies on time focusing on findings in philosophy psychology sociology communications history postcolonial studies and ecology She then illustrates how contemporary artistic practices play around with what we consider linear time Engaging the work of artists such as Guido van der Werve Melik Ohanian Harun Farocki and Stan Douglas allows investigation though the art as opposed to having art taking an ancillary role The Past is the Present It's the Future Too forces the reader to understand the complexities of the significance of temporal development in new artistic practices

Time and the Everyday in Slow Cinema Rosa Barotsi, 2025-07-08 Time and the Everyday in Slow Cinema examines the phenomenon of Slow cinema a style defined by its lingering focus on quotidian activities and extended durations Rosa Barotsi argues that while the style emerges from a tradition of durational filmmaking and resonates with movements advocating for deceleration it is also deeply entangled in the structures of late capitalism creating a dynamic tension between radicalism and conservatism This book situates the trend between artistic innovation and institutional commodification ultimately raising critical questions about spectatorship cinematic time and the politics of cultural value
