Technics And Civilization A History Of The:

Technics and Civilization Lewis Mumford, 2010-10-30 Technics and Civilization first presented its compelling history of the machine and critical study of its effects on civilization in 1934 before television the personal computer and the Internet even appeared on our periphery Drawing upon art science philosophy and the history of culture Lewis Mumford explained the origin of the machine age and traced its social results asserting that the development of modern technology had its roots in the Middle Ages rather than the Industrial Revolution Mumford sagely argued that it was the moral economic and political choices we made not the machines that we used that determined our then industrially driven economy Equal parts powerful history and polemic criticism Technics and Civilization was the first comprehensive attempt in English to portray the development of the machine age over the last thousand years and to predict the pull the technological still holds over us today The questions posed in the first paragraph of Technics and Civilization still deserve our attention nearly three quarters of a century after they were written Journal of Technology and Culture

The Future of Technics & Civilization Lewis Mumford, 1986 A brilliant survey of our response to changing technology which sets out the prerequisites for a rational use of our discoveries and inventions as a means of human liberation rather than enslavement Technics and Civilization Lewis Mumford, 1963 Traces the evolution of the machine and describes its effects on man and his environment

Fifty Years of Medieval Technology and Social Change Steven A. Walton, 2019-08-22 This volume brings together a series of papers at Kalamazoo as well as some contributed papers inspired by the fiftieth anniversary of the publication of Lynn White Jr s Medieval Technology and Social Change 1962 a slim study which catalyzed the study of technology in the Middle Ages in the English speaking world While the initial reviews and decades long fortune of the volume have been varied it is still in print and remains a touchstone of an idea and a time The contributors to the volume therefore both investigate the book itself and its fate and look at new research furthering and inspired by White s work The book opens with an introduction surveying White s career with a bibliography of his work as well as some opening thoughts on the study of medieval technology in the last fifty years Three papers then deal explicitly with the reception and longevity of his work and its impact on medieval studies more generally Then five papers look at new cast studies areas where White s work and approach has had a particular impact namely medieval technology studies and medieval rural ecological studies

Technics and Civilization Lewis Mumford, 1965

Medical Technics Don Ihde, 2019-09-30 A personal account of the aging body and advanced technologies by a preeminent philosopher of technology Medical Technics is a rigorous examination of how medical progress has modified our worlds and contributed to a virtual revolution in longevity Don Ihde offers a unique autobiographical tour of medical events experienced in a decade beginning in his 70s Ihde offers experiential and postphenomenological analyses of technologies such as sonography and microsurgery and ultimately asks what it means to increasingly become a cyborg

Composing Cultures Eric Aronoff,2013-10-18 The term culture has become ubiquitous in both academic and popular conversations but its usefulness is a point of dispute Taking the current shift from cultural studies to aesthetics as the latest form of this discussion Eric Aronoff contends that in American modernism the concepts of culture and of aesthetics have always been inseparable The modernist concept of culture he argues arose out of an interdisciplinary dialogue about value meaning and form among social critics artists anthropologists and literary critics including figures as diverse as Van Wyck Brooks Edward Sapir Willa Cather Lewis Mumford John Crowe Ransom Raymond Weaver and Allen Tate These figures proposed new ways to conceive of culture that intertwined theories of aesthetic and literary value with theories of national racial and regional identity Through close readings Aronoff shows that disciplines and approaches that are often thought of as opposed cultural anthropology and aesthetics American literary history and literary criticism and multiculturalism and regionalism are in fact engaged in common debate and proceed from shared arguments about culture and form Everyday
