Genetics of Apicomplexans and Apicomplexan-Related Parasitic Diseases Moses Okpeku,Matthew Adekunle Adeleke,Jun-Hu Chen,2022-03-28 Intra- and inter-species interactions in microbial communities Luis Raul Comolli,Birgit Luef,Manfred Auer,2015-03-03

Recent developments in various OMICs fields have revolutionized our understanding of the vast diversity and ubiquity of microbes in the biosphere However most of the current paradigms of microbial cell biology and our view of how microbes live and what they are capable of are derived from in vitro experiments on isolated strains Even the co culturing of mixed species to interrogate community behavior is relatively new But the majority of microorganisms lives in complex communities in natural environments under varying conditions and often cannot be cultivated Unless we obtain a detailed understanding of the near native 3D ultrastructure of individual community members the 3D spatial community organization their metabolic interdependences coordinated gene expression and the spatial organization of their macromolecular machines inventories as well as their communication strategies we won t be able to truly understand microbial community life How spatial and also temporal organization in cell cell interactions are achieved remains largely elusive For example a key question in microbial ecology is what mechanisms microbes employ to respond when faced with prey competitors or predators and changes in external factors Specifically to what degree do bacterial cells in biofilms act individually or with coordinated responses What are the spatial extent and coherence of coordinated responses In addition networks linking organisms across a dynamic range of physical constraints and connections should provide the basis for linked evolutionary changes under pressure from a changing environment Therefore we need to investigate microbial responses to altered or adverse environmental conditions including phages predators and competitors and their macromolecular metabolic responses according to their spatial organization We envision a diverse set of tools including optical spectroscopical chemical and ultrastructural imaging techniques that will be utilized to address questions regarding e g intra and inter organism interactions linked to ultrastructure and correlated adaptive responses in gene expression physiological and metabolic states as a consequence of the alterations of their environment Clearly strategies for co evolution and in general the display of adaptive strategies of a microbial network as a response to the altered environment are of high interest While a special focus will be placed on terrestrial sole species or mixed biofilms we are also interested in aquatic systems biofilms in general and microbes living in symbiosis In this Research Topic we wish to summarize and review results investigating interactions and possibly networks between microbes of the same or different species their co occurrence as well as spatiotemporal patterns of distribution Our goal is to include a broad spectrum of experimental and theoretical contributions from research and review articles to hypothesis and theory aiming at understanding microbial interactions at a systems level Primary and Stem Cells Uma Lakshmipathy,Bhaskar Thyagarajan,2011-10-31 This book describes basic cell engineering methods emphasizing stem cell applications and use of the genetically modified stem cells in cell therapy and drug discovery Together the chapters introduce and offer insights on new techniques for engineering of stem cells and the delivery of transgenes into stem cells via various viral and non viral systems The book offers a guide to the types of manipulations currently available to create genetically engineered stem cells that suit any investigator s purpose whether it s basic science investigation creation of disease models and screens or cells for therapeutic applications

Development of Circadian Clock Functions, volume II Daisuke Ono,Takahiro J. Nakamura,Jeff Jones,Jihwan Myung,Rae Silver,2024-07-31 The temporal order of physiological functions such as sleep wakefulness is regulated by the circadian clock This intrinsic clock starts ticking in the embryo and matures during development with attenuation of the clock function in the elderly illustrated by attenuation of synchrony entrainment and outputs of cellular circadian rhythms in the SCN This age related diminution can contribute to the emergence of diseases such as sleep disorders infertility diabetes mental disorders etc Over the course of our lives a variety of internal and external factors are under the influence of the circadian clock This inherent developmental plasticity of the circadian system is critical for the establishment of normal bodily functions to adapt to the changing environment on earth In mammals the central circadian clock is located in the suprachiasmatic nucleus SCN of the hypothalamus Circadian rhythms in the SCN are observed during the embryonic period and input and output pathways from the SCN are formed after birth During postnatal development functions of neurotransmitters in the SCN are changed which have an influence on special temporal patterns of circadian rhythms in the SCN and outputs signals to the outside of the SCN During postnatal development properties of circadian rhythms in the SCN and its inputs and outputs can be modulated by environmental light conditions Recent optical manipulation and imaging techniques have revealed that cell type specific functions for circadian rhythms However it remains unclear which cell types or networks in the brain are modulated during postnatal development and how these cells regulate circadian rhythms depending on postnatal period

ROS Regulation during Plant Abiotic Stress Responses Zhulong Chan,Chun-Peng Song,Woe Yeon Kim,Ken Yokawa,2017-02-08 Plants are continuously exposed to a wide range of environmental conditions including cold drought salt heat which have major impact on plant growth and development To survive plants have evolved complex physiological and biochemical adaptations to cope with a variety of adverse environmental stresses Among them reactive oxygen species ROS are key regulators and play pivotal roles during plant stress responses which are thought to function as early signals during plant abiotic stress responses ROS were long regarded as unwanted and toxic by products of physiological metabolism However ROS are now recognized as central players in the complex signaling network of cells Therefore a fine tuning control between ROS production and scavenging pathways is essential to maintain non toxic levels in planta under stressful conditions through enzymatic and non enzymatic antioxidant defense systems We focus on the roles of ROS during plant abiotic stress responses in this Research Topic Plant responses to multiple abiotic stresses and effects of hormones and chemicals on plant stress responses have been carefully studies Although functions of several stress responsive genes have been characterized and possible interactions between hormones and ROS are discussed future researches are needed to functionally characterize ROS regulatory and signaling transduction pathways
