Zoonotic Diseases and One Health Marcello Otake Sato,Megumi Sato,Poom Adisakwattana,Ian Kendrich Fontanilla,2020-05-27 Humans are part of an ecosystem and understanding our relationship with the environment and with other organisms is a prerequisite to living together sustainably Zoonotic diseases which are spread between animals and humans are an important issue as they reflect our relationship with other animals in a common environment Zoonoses are still presented with high occurrence rates especially in rural communities with direct and indirect consequences for people In several cases zoonosis could cause severe clinical manifestations and is difficult to control and treat Moreover the persistent use of drugs for infection control enhances the potential of drug resistance and impacts on ecosystem balance and food production This book demonstrates the importance of understanding zoonosis in terms of how it allows ecosystems to transform adapt and evolve Ecohealth One Health approaches recognize the interconnections among people other organisms and their shared developing environment Moreover these holistic approaches encourage stakeholders of various disciplines to collaborate in order to solve problems related to zoonosis The reality of climate change necessitates considering new variables in studying diseases particularly to predict how these changes in the ecosystems can affect human health and how to recognize the boundaries between medicine veterinary care and environmental and social changes towards healthy and sustainable development Performance of direct seed marketing pilot program in Ethiopia: Lessons for scaling-up Mekonen, Leulseged Kasa,Minot, Nicholas,Warner, James,Abate, Gashaw T., This study evaluates the impact in the main cropping season of 2015 of a new approach to the distribution of improved seed in Ethiopia known as Direct Seed Marketing DSM Under DSM seed producers are allowed to sell seed directly to farmers in contrast to the conventional seed marketing CSM system in which seed passes from seed producers to regional Bureaus of Agriculture to woreda Agricultural Offices to Development Agents cooperative unions and primary cooperatives who in turn sell the seed to farmers The study is based on a survey of 800 farmers 118 agricultural extension workers 75 seed sellers and 24 seed producers in Amhara Oromia Southern Nations Nationalities and Peoples SNNP and Tigray regions The performance of the DSM program in 2015 was evaluated on eight criteria seed availability sufficiency of supply timeliness of delivery seed pricing quality ensuring accountability for low quality seed ease of purchase and use of public resources The results indicate that DSM had heterogeneous effects across the different regions showing the need to strengthen the sharing of experiences with the program across the regions of Ethiopia to scale up DSM s benefits However when we consider the overall DSM program without regional disaggregation the DSM and CSM systems do not differ significantly on most of the eight criteria although DSM required significantly less of the time of the farmer level agricultural extension agents the Development Agents DSM performed as well as CSM across the eight criteria examined while requiring 39 percent less time for the involvement the Development Agents Farmers subjective views of DSM were quite positive On most criteria 50 to 65 percent of farmers said DSM performed better or much better than CSM The study also identifies specific areas where the performance of DSM needs to be improved A review of international experience with seed systems is used to provide some additional recommendations regarding the longer term development of seed systems in Ethiopia The economics of teff:

Exploring Ethiopia's biggest cash crop Minten, Bart, Taffesse, Alemayehu Seyoum, Brown, Petra, 2018-07-19 Considerable poverty and food insecurity in Ethiopia combined with the overwhelming majority of Ethiopians who depend on agriculture for their livelihoods make agricultural transformation a crucial development goal for the country One promising improvement is to increase production of teff the calorie and nutrient rich but low yielding staple The Economics of Teff Exploring Ethiopia's Biggest Cash Crop examines key aspects of teff production marketing and consumption with a focus on opportunities for and challenges to further growth The authors identify ways to realize teff's potential including improving productivity and resilience selecting and scaling up new technologies establishing distribution systems adapted to different areas needs managing labor demand and postharvest operations and increasing access to larger and more diverse markets The book's analysis and policy conclusions should be useful to policy makers researchers and others concerned with Ethiopia's economic development Production choices and nutrition related implications in Ethiopia Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, United Nations Children's Fund, 2018-04-11 The Improved Nutrition through Integrated Basic Social Services with Social Cash Transfer IN SCT is a three year pilot programme implemented by the Government of Ethiopia with funding from UNICEF and Irish Aid The programme started in the end of 2015 and currently covers two districts woredas in each of the following regions Oromia and the Southern Nations Nationalities and Peoples Region SNNP The IN SCT is an integral part of the Productive Safety Net Programme PSNP in the latter's fourth phase 2015-2018 The IN SCT programme aims to enhance access to social services by fostering co-responsibilities for two groups of PSNP clients Permanent Direct Support clients receiving 12 months of transfers per year and Temporary Direct Support clients Public Works clients who are temporarily transitioning to the Direct Support components based on certain circumstances such as being pregnant or lactating or being a caretaker of a malnourished child and are receiving six months of cash transfers with soft conditionalities The IN SCT programme expands the PSNP4 by offering an integrated package of multi-sectoral nutrition services In SNNP the programme supports the nutrition sensitive interventions under PSNP and also undertakes activities to improve the quality of health services offered In Oromia a less intensive version of the IN SCT programme is being implemented This report aims to show how production choices are linked to nutrition and consumption behaviour To do so we first provide a snapshot of the rural livelihoods in the SNNP region by focusing on outcomes that allow us to gauge the economic and productive impacts of the IN SCT including agricultural production and other income generating activities labour supply the accumulation of productive assets and access to credit and transfers We then link some of these outcomes to indicators such as food consumption and household dietary diversity and study their patterns across the outcome distributions We provide descriptive statistics from the baseline household survey conducted for the evaluation of the IN SCT Pilot Programme in SNNP region A baseline survey for the impact evaluation including both quantitative and qualitative components was conducted April May 2016 in both SNNP and Oromia regions though the sample for Oromia has not been included in the study given the lack of a comparison group and the absence of nutrition sensitive agricultural interventions Biomarkers in Leishmaniasis Javier Moreno,Eugenia Carrillo,2020-01-15 Understanding urban consumers' food choice behavior in Ethiopia: Promoting demand for healthy foods Melesse, Mequanint B.,Van den berg, Marrit,de Brauw, Alan,Abate, Gashaw T.,2019-04-04 Using survey data collected from 996 representative households in Addis Ababa Ethiopia this paper documents several insights to help understand urban consumer food purchasing and consumption choices The findings can be summarized as follows 1 We find that households face important dietary gaps a large proportion eats insufficient amounts of nutrient dense vegetables animal source foods and fruits 2 The consumption of ultra processed foods increases with income and may become a pressing health concern as incomes rise 3 From a purchasing perspective we find that consumers buy foods for different purposes at different outlets Nearby kiosks and informal street markets are frequented for small food items and for fruits and vegetables while formal open markets and consumer cooperatives are used for bulky food items 4 Respondents make food and food outlet choices based on their health and food safety concerns but few consider the nutritional value of food when purchasing it Concurrently the availability of a wide variety of healthy and safe foods is highly valued by most respondents for outlet choice Among consumers in lower income categories they tend to make food and food outlet choices based on prices and location convenience 5 Although nutrition is not a primary concern when making choices about food consumers appear to have reasonable nutritional knowledge Most respondents considered a healthy diet to be primarily plant based Most people are aware that they should eat more fruits and vegetables and less sugary fatty and salty foods but they have limited knowledge on the nutrient content of specific foods and the causes of obesity 6 Labelling would not be an effective way to increase nutritional knowledge most respondents have limited understanding of the information that labels provide Rather most respondents trust the information provided by health professionals over other sources In sum these results are potentially relevant for policy and the design of future programs for improving nutritional outcomes through enhanced diets Emerging Infectious Diseases ,2018 Governing Climate Mobility in Africa Ninna Nyberg Sørensen,Lily Salloum Lindegaard,Neil Webster,2025-07-28 Available open access digitally under CC BY NC ND licence Climate change is often understood as a main driver of human mobility in Africa but this book demonstrates the many other factors that also come into play in households mobility practices including those linked to gender finance and livelihoods Using case studies from Ethiopia and Ghana the edited collection reveals how the two countries governance structures play significant roles in shaping households agency and mobility options It shows that mobility has long been practised in both countries and is important for households livelihoods and resilience to climate change The book concludes with policy recommendations for institutional practices that can support adaptive climate mobility

Collision Course Jason Henderson, 2016-09-07 The true story of two elite runners and a disastrous race at the 1984 Los Angeles Olympics The Olympic crowds as well as millions of viewers at home were looking forward to watching South African born barefoot runner Zola Budd representing Britain in competition against the American favorite Mary Decker But as the two ran in close proximity during the 3000 meter race in Los Angeles disaster struck Decker tumbled to the inside of the track after her legs tangled with Budd s while the two competed for pole position A distraught and frustrated Decker unable to carry on watched in tears as Maricica Puica of Romania stormed to gold while Budd who was heavily booed by the partisan crowd in the closing stages faded to seventh Using the famous Olympic moment as its focal point Collision Course tells the story of two of the best known athletes of the twentieth century analyzes their place in history as pioneers of women s sport and lifts the lid on two lives that have been filled with sporting and political intrigue that until now has never been fully told

An evolving paradigm of agricultural mechanization development: How much can Africa learn from Asia? Diao, Xinshen, ed., Takeshima, Hiroyuki. ed., Zhang, Xiaobo, ed., 2020-12-07 Agricultural mechanization in Africa south of the Sahara especially for small farms and businesses requires a new paradigm to meet the needs of the continent s evolving farming systems Can Asia with its recent success in adopting mechanization offer a model for Africa An Evolving Paradigm of Agricultural Mechanization Development analyzes the experiences of eight Asian and five African countries The authors explore crucial government roles in boosting and supporting mechanization from import policies to promotion policies to public good policies Potential approaches presented to facilitating mechanization in Africa include prioritizing market led hiring services eliminating distortions and developing appropriate technologies for the African context The role of agricultural mechanization within overall agricultural and rural transformation strategies in Africa is also discussed The book s recommendations and insights should be useful to national policymakers and the development community who can adapt this knowledge to local contexts and use it as a foundation for further research

Lets delve into the realm of bestselling books, exploring the captivating narratives that have charmed audiences this year. The Must-Read : Colleen Hoover "It Ends with Us" This heartfelt tale of love, loss, and resilience has captivated readers with its raw and emotional exploration of domestic abuse. Hoover expertly weaves a story of hope and healing, reminding us that even in the darkest of times, the human spirit can triumph. Uncover the Best : Taylor Jenkins Reids "The Seven Husbands of Evelyn Hugo" This spellbinding historical fiction novel unravels the life of Evelyn Hugo, a Hollywood icon who defies expectations and societal norms to pursue her dreams. Reids compelling storytelling and compelling characters transport readers to a bygone era, immersing them in a world of glamour, ambition, and self-discovery. Discover the Magic : Delia Owens "Where the Crawdads Sing" This captivating coming-of-age story follows Kya Clark, a young woman who grows up alone in the marshes of North Carolina. Owens spins a tale of resilience, survival, and the transformative power of nature, captivating readers with its evocative prose and mesmerizing setting. These top-selling novels represent just a fraction of the literary treasures that have emerged in 2023. Whether you seek tales of romance, adventure, or personal growth, the world of literature offers an abundance of engaging stories waiting to be discovered. The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a brilliant and suspenseful novel that will keep you guessing until the very end. The novel is a cautionary tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
