Governing Youth Politics in the Age of Surveillance Maria Grasso, Judith Bessant, 2018-02-06 Drawing on case studies from around the world contributors to this ground breaking book explore a major contemporary paradox on the one hand young people today are at the forefront of political campaigns promoting social rights and ethical ideas that challenge authoritarian orders and elite privileges On the other hand too many governments some claiming to be committed to liberal democratic values social inclusion and youth participation are engaged in repressing political activities that contest the status quo Contributors to this book explore how especially since 9 11 governments state agencies and other traditional power holders around the globe have reacted to political dissent authored by young people While the need to enhance youth political participation is promoted the cases in this book document how states are using everything from surveillance summary offences expulsion from universities gag laws and antiterrorism legislation and even imprisonment to repress certain forms of young people s political activism These responses diminish the public sphere and create civic spaces hostile to political participation by any citizen This book forms part of The Criminalization of Political Dissent series It documents and interprets the many ways contemporary governments and agencies now routinely use various techniques to repress and criminalise political dissent

Informational Peripheries Ayona Datta, Fenna Imara Hoefsloot, 2025-08-04 Urbanisation and urban life in a digital age needs to be examined through a lens of information encompassing both its politics and its geographies The periphery in an information age is located simultaneously across the geographic centre and edge across social material and digital worlds Moving beyond current scholarship in urban and regional studies this book presents a case for informational peripheries as an analytical lens to understand the uneven fragmented and disconnected geographies of urban peripheries in the Global South While unplanned urbanisation has been a key discourse in the production of urban periphery in the Global South Informational Peripheries argues that the coming of an informational age destabilises the geographic location of the urban periphery Informational peripheries capture the complexities of digital material and social dispersal and fragmentation that emerge from informational extraction redlining manipulation and bypassing Exclusions are marked by both geographic and informational distance from the state It includes subjects who are uncountable as well as territories that are digitally socially and materially unmappable This approach provides an important vantage point for interrogating the political and technological apparatuses that are reconfiguring the notion of the urban in a digital age
