Global Ethics on Climate Change Martin Schonfeld, 2013-08-15 The volatility of climate change is increasing. It is bad news and many climatologists, policy analysts, and environmental groups regard the West as the largest contributor to the problems caused by climate change. This book raises questions concerning the systemic and cultural reasons for Western countries' unwillingness to bear full responsibility for their carbon emissions. Is the Western paradigm failing? Can other cultures offer solutions? Are there alternatives for designing a better future? Just as the roots of the problem of climate change are cultural, the solution must be too. The contributors to Global Ethics on Climate Change explore cultural alternatives. This differs from conventional climate ethics which tends to address the crisis with utilitarian, legalistic, and analytic tools. The authors in this volume doubt whether such paradigm patches will work. It may be time to think outside the box and consider non-Western insights about the good life, indigenous wisdom on being in the world, and new ideas for civil evolution. This book is an examination of candidates for a Plan B. This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of Global Ethics.

Environmental Ethics for Canadians Byron Williston, 2022-11-03 The climate emergency is the greatest threat facing humanity. Almost every discipline and future career path from business to technology, engineering, and politics will force students to confront ethical concerns as they relate to the environment, natural resources, and sustainable growth. Written in a consistent, readable voice, Byron Williston's Environmental Ethics for Canadians demystifies the main thinkers and questions central to environmental ethics without overwhelming students with detail or philosophy-specific jargon, showcasing the complex philosophical and ethical questions that arise as we interact with the natural world and work to stem climate change in an accessible way. A hybrid textbook and reader combining classic essays by leaders in environmental philosophy with contemporary selections by emerging voices in the field, including original pieces commissioned expressly for this volume, this text provides students with the foundational concepts and new perspectives they need to truly understand our changing relationship to the environment. While instructors often find it difficult to animate environmental ethics and demonstrate its career relevance to their students, many of whom are non-philosophy majors, this edition's new feature boxes help illustrate the way philosophical thought and ideas have been utilized in the world and in Canada to create change, showing students the practicality of learning these ideas for their future careers. Incorporating Indigenous perspectives throughout, including a full chapter devoted to Indigenous ways of knowing, as well as expanded content on the Anthropocene, biodiversity loss, and climate change, this volume brings philosophical debate to today's greatest opportunities and challenges. Global in outlook but Canadian in focus, this ground-up Canadian text provides students examples and case studies from their own backyard to engage them and propel their thinking outward.

Philosophy and the Climate Crisis Byron Williston, 2020-10-11 This book explores how the history of philosophy can orient us to the new reality brought on by the climate crisis If we understand the climate crisis as a deeply existential one it can help to examine the way past philosophers responded to similar crises in their times This book explores five past crises each involving a unique form of collective trauma These events war occupation exile scientific revolution and political revolution inspired the philosophers to remake the whole world in thought to construct a metaphysics Williston distills a key intellectual innovation from each metaphysical system That political power must be constrained by knowledge of the climate system Plato That ethical and political reasoning must be informed by care or love of the ecological whole Augustine That we must enhance the design of the technosphere Descartes That we must conceive the Earth as an internally complex system Spinoza And that we must grant rights to anyone or anything ultimately the Earth system itself whose vital interests are threatened by the effects of climate change Hegel Philosophy and the Climate Crisis will be of great interest to students and scholars of climate change environmental philosophy and ethics and the environmental humanities
