An Ambulance on Safari Melissa Diane Armstrong, 2020-10-22 During the apartheid era thousands of South African political activists militants and refugees fled arrest by crossing into neighbouring southern African countries Although they had escaped political oppression many required medical attention during their period of exile An Ambulance on Safari describes the efforts of the African National Congress ANC to deliver emergency healthcare to South African exiles and in the same stroke to establish political legitimacy and foster anti apartheid sentiment on an international stage Banned in South Africa from 1960 to 1990 the ANC continued its operations underground in anticipation of eventual political victory styling itself as a government in waiting In 1977 it created its own Health Department which it presented as an alternative medical service and the nucleus of a post apartheid healthcare system By publicizing its own democratic policies as well as the racist practices of healthcare delivery in South Africa the Health Department won international attention for its cause and provoked widespread condemnation of the apartheid state While the global campaign was unfolding successfully the department's provision of healthcare on the ground was intermittent as patients confronted a fledgling medical system experiencing various growing pains Still the legacy of the department would be long as many medical professionals who joined the post apartheid Department of Health in South Africa had been trained in exile during the liberation struggle With careful attention to both the international publicity campaign and on the ground medical efforts An Ambulance on Safari reveals the intricate and significant political role of the ANC's Health Department and its influence on the anti apartheid movement

Educational Leadership in Becoming Nuraan Davids, Yusef Waghid, 2016-08-25 Educational Leadership in Becoming reconsiders educational leadership in its current forms and presents a more plausible form of educational leadership to contend with the complexities currently found in universities and schools Much of the literature in vogue concerning educational leadership ranges from transactional to transformative representations of the concept in relation to educational management and policy curriculum inquiry and pedagogical action The primary aim of this book is to revisit some of the dominant understandings of educational leadership and to offer an extended view of the practice along the lines of potentiality and becoming Davids and Waghid argue that all current forms of educational leadership are insufficient to enact responsible human action particularly when it comes to addressing the combined issues of globalisation and equitable redress and transformation whether in relation to leading schools or universities The primary objective of the book is to draw on the Agambian notion of becoming in order to show that an educational leadership in becoming is better placed to not only address the myriad challenges besetting education but to also enhance the potential of leadership in action The book addresses an international audience by analysing conceptions of transformative leadership and should be read by anyone who is interested in education and educational leadership as well as the impact of neoliberal agendas on education and society It should also appeal to those interested in the philosophy of education

Shadow Libraries Joe Karaganis, 2018-05-04 How students get the materials they need as opportunities for higher education expand but funding shrinks From the top down Shadow Libraries explores the institutions that shape the provision of educational materials from the formal sector of universities and publishers to the broadly informal ones organized by faculty copy shops student unions and students themselves It looks at the history of policy battles over access to education in the post World War II era and at the narrower versions that have played out in relation to research and textbooks from library policies to book subsidies to more recently the several open publication models that have emerged in the higher education sector From the bottom up Shadow Libraries explores how simply students get the materials they need It maps the ubiquitous practice of photocopying and what are in many cases the more marginal ones of buying books visiting libraries and downloading from unauthorized sources It looks at the informal networks that emerge in many contexts to share materials from face to face student networks to Facebook groups and at the processes that lead to the consolidation of some of those efforts into more organized archives that circulate offline and sometimes online the shadow libraries of the title If Alexandra Elbakyan's Sci Hub is the largest of these efforts to date the more characteristic part of her story is the prologue the personal struggle to participate in global scientific and educational communities and the recourse to a wide array of ad hoc strategies and networks when formal authorized means are lacking If Elbakyan's story has struck a chord it is in part because it brings this contradiction in the academic project into sharp relief universalist in principle and unequal in practice Shadow Libraries is a study of that tension in the digital era Contributors Bal zs Bod Laura Czerniewicz Mirosław Filiciak Mariana Fossatti Jorge Gernetto Eve Gray Evelin Heidel Joe Karaganis Lawrence Liang Pedro Mizukami Jhessica Reia Alek Tarkowski
