INTRODUCTION

BRIEF BIOGRAPHY OF ANNA FUNDER

Anna Funder was born in Australia and spent much of her childhood in Paris. She later studied at Freie University in Berlin, and received an MA from the University of Melbourne. She trained as a human rights lawyer and worked for the Australian government throughout the 1980s and 90s, after which she turned to writing full-time. Her first book, Stasiland (2003) was awarded the prestigious Samuel Johnson Prize, the world's largest monetary award for nonfiction writing in the English language, and her follow-up, the novel All the Rage (2011) was awarded the Miles Franklin Prize, the most prestigious award Australia offers.

HISTORICAL CONTEXT

The overarching historical event described in Stasiland is, of course, the rise of the East German state. In the years following World War Two, the Allied powers occupied the western half of Germany, while Soviet troops occupied the east. By the late 1940s, the Soviet Union had established a satellite Communist state in East Germany. Over the course of the next forty years, East Germany instituted a set of authoritarian policies, running surveillance on its own citizens and jailing dissidents and critics of the government. By the late 1980s, East Germany was in a state of near-collapse. In 1989, demonstrations tore down the Berlin Wall, erected in 1961 by East German troops to prevent East Germans from fleeing into West Berlin. In the early nineties, following the dissolution of the Soviet Union, East Germany collapsed, its leaders fled in disgrace, and Germany was reunified.

RELATED LITERARY WORKS

Stasiland bears an interesting resemblance to several of the works of W.G. Sebald, especially The Emigrants (1992) and Austerlitz (2001). In his books—which, like Stasiland, are hard to categorize, blending elements of the novel, memoir, and personal essay—Sebald deals with themes of memory, guilt, and trauma, often set against the backdrop of 20th-century German history. Readers who enjoy Funder's writing style and descriptions of being a wandering stranger in another country might enjoy Sebald with Hansruedi (2004), a collection of loosely linked travel essays by the great Polish journalist Ryszard Kapuściński.

EXTRA CREDIT

A play's the thing. Stasiland is currently being developed as a play by London's National Theatre.

Stranger in a strange land. Anna Funder moved back to Australia with her husband and children after living in Brooklyn for three years. Her explanation was simple: "My kids are of an age where we had to decide whether they were going to be Jewish or not, whether they were going to be Australian. We decided that we really want them to be Australian."

PLOT SUMMARY

Anna Funder, the author and narrator, travels to Berlin from Australia in 1996. She's there to work for a German TV station and investigate the state of the country following the fall of the Berlin Wall in 1989 and the ensuing collapse of the Communist East German state. Funder's research centers around the "Stasi," the East German secret police and surveillance force. For decades, the Stasi, headed by Erich Mielke, conducted surveillance on a staggering number of East German citizens, and sponsored a vast network of informants. Funder speaks with a woman named Miriam Weber, who tried and failed to break out of East Germany when she was still a teenager. Like so many East Germans who tried to escape, Miriam was sentenced to jail time. Afterwards, Miriam married a young man named Charlie, who, like her, had been declared an "Enemy of the State" for his subversive acts. Charlie was later jailed, and in jail he supposedly hanged himself. Miriam became suspicious and wondered if he had been murdered. She demanded to see the body, and finally, after months of bureaucracy, she was allowed to do so—and discovered marks on Charlie's body suggesting that he hadn't died of hanging at all. For decades, Miriam has been begging a conspiracy to forth the truth about her husband's death. However, the Stasi kept secret files on tens of thousands of citizens, and shredded many
