Toward the Visualization of History Mark Moss, 2008-06-19 Over the past 50 years the influence of visuals has impacted society with greater frequency No subject is immune from the power of visual culture and this fact becomes especially pronounced with regards to history and historical discourse Where once the study of the past was books and printed articles the environment has changed and students now enter the lecture hall with a sense of history that has been gleaned from television film photography and other new media. They come to understand history based on what they have seen and heard not what they have read. What are the implications of this process? This visualization of history. Mark Moss discusses the impact of visuals on the study of history with an examination of visual culture and the future of print. Recognizing the visual bias of the younger generations and using this as a starting point for teaching history is a critical component for reaching students. By providing an analysis of photography film television and computer culture Moss uses the Holocaust as an historical case study to illustrate the ways in which visual culture can be used to bring about an awareness of history as well as the potential for visual culture becoming a driving force for social and cultural change.

Poetic Writing and the Vietnam War in West Germany Mererid Puw Davies, 2023-05-30

In the 1960s and 1970s in the Federal Republic of Germany FRG or West Germany newspaper readers and television viewers were appalled by terrible images of fires burning half a world away. The Vietnam War was a decisive catalyst for the era's wider protest movements and gave rise to an ardent anti-war discourse. This discourse privileged writing in many forms. Within it poetry and poetic writing were key and because coverage of the conflict in Vietnam often focused on spectacular destructive conflagrations ignited by hi-tech machines of war their dominant trope was fire. Hundreds of poems and related writings about Vietnam circulated in the FRG yet they are almost entirely forgotten today. Poetic Writing and the Vietnam War in West Germany uncovers and explores some of this rich production in order to present a new history of engaged poetic writing in the FRG in the 1960s and 1970s and to draw out distinctive characteristics of wider protest culture. In doing so it makes the case for attending to marginal non canonical or neglected literary and cultural forms and for critical thinking about why they might over time have been obscured This book offers too a case study for reflection on the representation of war on ways in which German oppositional culture could imagine its others and the ways in which other voices could speak to it in turn and on the relationship of poetry to the historical world Passionate Publishers Phoebe Kornfeld,2021-08-12 Passionate Publishers traces the lives of the German Jewish refugee migr founders of the Black Star photo agency Ernest Mayer Kurt Safranski and Kurt Kornfeld whose expertise helped ignite a revolution in photojournalism The first half of the book lays the groundwork for understanding how Black Star s founders could play such a key role in photojournalism The author reconstructs their history in Germany before and during World War I and details their accomplishments in Berlin s dynamic Weimar era publishing industry The journey into exile of Safranski Mayer and Kornfeld their influence on the editors of Life the first decade of Black Star and the most notable post World War II experiences of the photo agency s founders are the focus of the second half of the book Family and governmental archives provide extensive new information about the three men and reveal harrowing investigations by J Edgar Hoover s FBI which believed Black Star s founders to be spies or agents of a foreign government The author argues that the refugee migr s successfully contested the never substantiated allegations on account of their strong views relating to the freedom of the press and the malevolence of discrimination on the basis of race religion or national origin Reframing

Fahmy, M. Bock, W. Wanta, 2014-05-01 In today s multimedia environment visuals are essential and expected parts of storytelling However the visual communication research field is fragmented into several sub areas making study difficult Fahmy Bock and Wanta note trends and discuss the challenges of conducting analysis of images across print broadcast and online media Now Vincent Lavoie, 2003-01-01 While the crisis that took place in photojournalism during the 1960 s brought about a significant shift in the practices discourses and institutional structures of press photography it also affected the practices of artists specifically with regard to work devoted to revitalizing the depiction of events The art world attempted to revitalize the historical genre by undertaking its critical rereading in the spirit of restoring a tradition diminished by the mass media The problem may be expressed in these terms How can history be depicted bearing in mind that the media mainly photojournalism and the electronic press have claimed a monopoly of the genre unto themselves At issue is the sizeable problem of mass media omnipotence as an obligatory referential universe for historiographical artistic practices Today it seems impossible to depict the event in any way other than by accentuating or eschewing the formal attributes rhetorical artifices and ideological precepts of the mass media These approaches to addressing historical moments have been examined in this article both because they epitomize contemporary historical writing and for the most part they constitute critical responses to stereotyped depictions of events Above all they represent a paradigm shift the mass media s prerogatives for depicting historical moments has shifted towards the field of art Contemporary depictions of catastrophe crimes sensationalist news items terrorist attacks humanitarian disasters genocides common themes in many of the artistic projects represented in the 8th edition of the Mois de la Photo a Montreal have been especially striking in this respect For of all contemporary events catastrophes are the most likely to be spontaneously propelled to the top of the news roster and the most susceptible to the various inflections of contemporary art photography Image Brokers Zeynep Devrim
