Department of Public Instruction, 1910 The New Cambridge Bibliography of English Literature: Volume 4, 1900-1950 George Watson, I. R. Willison, 1972-12-07 More than fifty specialists have contributed to this new edition of volume 4 of The Cambridge Bibliography of English Literature The design of the original work has established itself so firmly as a workable solution to the immense problems of analysis articulation and coordination that it has been retained in all its essentials for the new edition The task of the new contributors has been to revise and integrate the lists of 1940 and 1957 to add materials of the following decade to correct and refine the bibliographical details already available and to re shape the whole according to a new series of conventions devised to give greater clarity and consistency to the entries Resources in Education, 2001-10 Contemporary English-Language Indian Children's Literature Michelle Superle, 2011-05-09 Concurrent with increasing scholarly attention toward national children's literatures Contemporary English language Indian Children's Literature explores an emerging body of work that has thus far garnered little serious critical attention Superle critically examines the ways Indian children's writers have represented childhood in relation to the Indian nation Indian cultural identity and Indian girlhood From a framework of postcolonial and feminist theories children's novels published between 1988 and 2008 in India are compared with those from the United Kingdom and North America from the same period considering the differing ideologies and the current textual constructions of childhood at play in each. Broadly Superle contends that over the past twenty years an aspirational view of childhood has developed in this literature: a view that positions children as powerful participants in the project of enabling positive social transformation. Her main argument, formed after recognizing several overarching thematic and structural patterns in more than one hundred texts, is that the novels comprise an aspirational literature with a transformative agenda: they imagine apparently empowered child characters who perform in diverse ways in the process of successfully creating and shaping the ideal Indian nation, their own well-adjusted bicultural identities in the diaspora, and/or their own empowered girlhoods.

Michelle Superle is a Professor in the department of Communications at Okanagan College. She has taught children's literature, composition, and creative writing courses at various Canadian universities and has published articles in Papers and IRCL Forum, 1982; The Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record, 1907; The English Language: Volume 1, Essays by English and American Men of Letters, 1490-1839 W. F. Bolton, 1966-01-01. This is a collection of essays about the English language by English and American men of letters from the sixteenth to the nineteenth centuries, that is, until the rise of formal linguistic studies. The writers represented are concerned with the history, the use, the reform, or the changing nature of English. Topics discussed include the defence of English as a literary language, the relationship with other languages, propriety in literary style, the psychological bases of speech, the relationship between words and things, usage, the need for academies and standards of correctness, the rise of lexicography, spelling reform, prescriptive grammar. These essays are the most important serious attempts to consider the language from various standpoints. Students of English in university departments will find this a convenient and comprehensive collection. It is also in itself an illustration of the development of the literary language.

The Publisher, 1906; The Seventeenth-century English Essay Elbert Nevius Sebring Thompson, 1926; The English illustrated magazine [ed. by J. W. C. Carr].
