

MARK SCHEME for the May/June 2013 series

9702 PHYSICS

9702/41

Paper 4 (A2 Structured Questions), maximum raw mark 100

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began, which would have considered the acceptability of alternative answers.

Mark schemes should be read in conjunction with the question paper and the Principal Examiner Report for Teachers.

Cambridge will not enter into discussions about these mark schemes.

Cambridge is publishing the mark schemes for the May/June 2013 series for most IGCSE, GCE Advanced Level and Advanced Subsidiary Level components and some Ordinary Level components.

Far less has been written about the complex ways in which Western governments have placed new and far reaching limitations on freedom of speech in this context since 9/11. This book compares three liberal democracies: the United States, the United Kingdom and Australia, in particular showing the commonalities and similarities in what has occurred in each country and the changes in the appropriate parameters of freedom of speech in the counter terrorism context since 9/11, achieved both in policy change and the justification for that change. In all three countries, much speech has been criminalized in ways that were considered anachronistic or inappropriate in comparable policy areas prior to 9/11. This is particularly interesting because other works have suggested that the United States' unique protection of freedom of speech in the First Amendment has prevented speech being limited in that country in ways that have been pursued in others. This book shows that this kind of argument misses the detail of the policy change that has occurred and privileges a textual reading over a more comprehensive policy based understanding of the changes that have occurred. The author argues that we are now living a new normal for freedom of speech within which restrictions on speech that once would have been considered aberrant, overreaching and impermissible are now considered ordinary, necessary and justified as long as they occur in the counter terrorism context. This change is persistent and it has far reaching implications for the future of this foundational freedom.
