The Oxford Handbook of Behavioral Emergencies and Crises Phillip M. Kleespies, 2016-08-22 The Oxford Handbook of Behavioral Emergencies and Crises includes the most up to date and valuable research on the evaluation and management of the most challenging patients or clients faced by mental health providers individuals who are at high risk of suicide of other directed violence or of becoming the victims of interpersonal violence These are cases in which the outcome can be serious injury or death and there can be negative consequences not only for the patient but also for the patient's family and friends for the assessing or treating clinician and for the patient's clinic or medical center. Virtually all mental health clinicians with an active caseload will see individuals with such issues. This Handbook is comprised of chapters by leading clinicians, researchers, and scholars in this area of practice. It presents a framework for learning the skills needed for assessing and working competently with such high-risk individuals. Chapters draw a distinction between behavioral emergencies and crises and between emergency intervention and crisis intervention. The book examines the interrelated aspects of the major behavioral emergencies that is, for example, the degree to which interpersonal victimization may lead an individual on a pathway to later suicidal or violent behavior or the degree to which suicidal individuals and violent individuals may share certain cognitive characteristics. This resource is not simply a knowledge base for behavioral emergencies; it also presents a method for reducing stress and acquiring skills in working with high-risk people.

Consolidated guidelines on person-centred HIV strategic information World Health Organization, 2022-07-29. These consolidated guidelines are aimed at supporting the generation of responsive person-centred data from routine national health management information systems across the HIV cascade from prevention, testing, and treatment to longer-term health care. They build upon the 2017 Consolidated guidelines on person-centred HIV patient monitoring and case surveillance, which describe information that should be collected in primary HIV patient monitoring tools, and the 2020 Consolidated HIV strategic information guidelines, which cover aggregate indicators for managing and monitoring programmes. The purpose of this guideline consolidation is to provide the recommended data elements, indicators, and guidance on data systems and their use across the spectrum of health sector HIV services in one place. This document focuses on strengthening the analysis and use of routine data at each stage of the cascade and emphasizes addressing person-centred HIV prevention, testing, and treatment, integration of HIV-related infections, the use of routine surveillance data to measure impact, and the development and use of digital health data systems and their governance. It also identifies the gaps.
