Aviation Social Science: Research Methods in Practice Mark W. Wiggins, Catherine Stevens, 2016-12-05. This book is a guide that addresses social science research issues within the aviation industry. Studies involving human factors, personality, training, systems evaluation, decision making, crew resource management and situation awareness are used to illustrate not only the process but also the outcomes that can emerge from social science research. The book describes the principles involved in conceptualising a research problem, obtaining management support, developing an appropriate timeframe, obtaining ethics approval and collecting and managing data. It also provides useful guidelines concerning the publication of research in magazines, academic journals and conference presentations. The topics are illustrated with aviation examples and the principles are deliberately broad. This book will be a useful guide for both novice and experienced researchers, especially pilots, air traffic controllers, maintenance personnel, aviation researchers, safety personnel and undergraduate and postgraduate university students.

Do It Yourself Social Research Yoland Wadsworth, 2016-06-16. With the rapid growth of collaborative, indigenous and community-based research, one of the key challenges researchers face is finding an effective way of involving non-researchers in the research process. Do It Yourself Social Research has been a best-selling methodology guide for action research projects and community groups in Australia for almost three decades. Always emphasizing the importance of a spirit of inquiry, it demystifies the research process, covering where to start, how to manage a research project, what methods, techniques and resources to use and interpretation, analysis and reporting. This third edition has been thoroughly revised, adding the use of narrative and dialogue in research, rich research design and what digital technology can and can't contribute to the research process. With its hands-on, no-nonsense approach, Do It Yourself Social Research is an essential resource for community groups, college students and other novice researchers in health, social welfare, education and related areas.
