The Roadkill Collection:

If you meet George Herbert on the road, kill him Justin Lewis-Anthony, 2013-01-17 Priestly ministry in the Church of England needs a radical rethink George Herbert died in 1633 His legacy continues His poems are read and sung and his parish ministry remains the model for the Church of England's understanding of how and where and why its priests should minister But there is a problem The memory of Herbert celebrated by the Church is an inaccurate one and in its inaccuracy is unfair on Herbert himself and his successors in the ordained ministry This is a book of the long view It sets out to assess realistically the context of Herbert's life and to explore the difficulties of parish life today By examining the status and role of parish clergy since Herbert's time and today it draws on the work of historians social anthropologists psychologists and theologians and presents their ideas in a readable and passionate style It argues that the future strength of parochial ministry will be found in a recovery of historic renewed understandings of priestly ministry and concludes by outlining more sustainable patterns of practice for the future In a climate of uncertainty for the future of the church it will be an encouragement for priest and people and welcomed by both

Donald,2023-05-30 Traffication develops a bold new idea that the trillions of miles of driving we do each year are just as destructive to our natural environment as any of the better known threats such as habitat loss or intensive farming The problem is not simply one of roadkill the impacts of roads are far more pervasive and they impact our wildlife in many subtle and unpredictable ways Using the latest research the book reveals how road traffic shatters essential biological processes affecting how animals communicate move around feed reproduce and die Most importantly it shows that the influence of traffic extends well beyond the verge and that a busy road can strip the wildlife from our countryside for miles around In the UK almost nowhere is exempt from this environmental toll Yet the final message here is one of hope by identifying the car as a major cause of the catastrophic loss of wildlife the solutions to our biodiversity crisis suddenly become much clearer The first step to solving any problem is to recognise that it exists in the first place But with road traffic we are not even at that crucial initial stage in our recovery Quite simply Traffication does for road traffic what Silent Spring did for agrochemicals awakening us from our collective road blindness and opening up a whole new chapter in conservation This urgent book is an essential contribution to the debate on how we restore the health of our countryside and of our own minds and bodies

Riley, 2015-06-01 A practical guide that explains how we can design roads that are compatible with populations of small wildlife Few of us think twice about driving on roads Yet the very presence of roads and the act of driving on them can impact the ecological infrastructure that supports an animal's daily life What chance does a turtle have of successfully laying its eggs when it needs to traverse a busy highway Is it realistic to expect small mammals to breed when an interstate thoroughfare subdivides their population These are the sorts of challenges faced by small often slow moving animals challenges that road engineers and ecologists are trying to address For countless small species vehicles traveling at high speeds are nothing less than missiles shooting across migration pathways For too many animals the danger can lead to the loss of populations in part because they simply are not programmed to react to traffic Salamanders faced with a two lane road between the forest and their aquatic breeding site for example will typically cross that road regardless of the congestion The result can be hundreds of flattened animals in a single night Roads and Ecological Infrastructure is the first book to focus on reducing conflict between roads and small animals Highlighting habitat connections and the challenges and solutions from both transportation and ecological perspectives the volume covers various themes including animal behavior related to roads and design approaches to mitigate the negative effects of roads on wildlife The chapter authors from transportation experts to university researchers each promote a goal of realistic problem solving Conceptual and practical this book will influence the next decade or more of road design in ecologically sensitive areas and should prevent countless unnecessary wildlife fatalities Published in association with The Wildlife Society Nature at Your Door Sara A. Gagné, 2023-07-01 We are an integral part of the ecosystem where we live In this book we learn that what we do in our yards matters just as much as the way our local parks and nature preserves are managed Author and professor of landscape ecology Sara Gagn focuses on the ecological importance of our day to day activities and spaces we are most familiar with and can most influence With cutting edge science anecdotal experiences and practical recommendations Sara brings the message of how people and nature are vitally connected in the urban and suburban landscape Each chapter is dedicated to a particular space beginning with the yard moving onto the street the park the greenway the neighborhood and the town city She tells stories of the latest ecological research interwoven with her own experiences studying animals to show readers how they affect nature and how nature in wilder greener spaces affect us in both positive and negative ways Sidebars feature practical steps readers can take to deepen their connections with nature Based on the author's fifteen years of research and teaching in urban ecology the wide variety of places and topics covered in this book adds a fresh perspective to urban nature writing and appeals to those who want to take action to make the places they live greener healthier and more biodiverse for themselves the wildlife and the earth Deer-vehicle Crash Countermeasure Toolbox Keith K.
