Allington,Peter H.

Johnston,2002-04-29 Fourth graders around the country face new high stakes standardized tests drawing increased attention to the need for effective literacy instruction in the upper elementary grades This essential book goes beyond political catch phrases to examine what actually works in the fourth grade classroom After reviewing current research on upper elementary reading instruction the book takes readers directly into the classrooms of six highly successful teachers Like the previously published Learning to Read which focused on the first grade Reading to Learn offers a rare view of the techniques and strategies good teachers use to engage students help them develop as thoughtful readers and writers and bolster self directed learning and literate conversation Bringing to life the complexities of day to day work with diverse students the book provides inspiration and practical ideas for any teacher in the upper elementary grades Cognition, Education, and Communication Technology PETER GARDENFORS,Petter Johansson,2014-04-08 Cognition Education and Communication Technology presents some of the recent theoretical developments in the cognitive and educational sciences and implications for the use of information and communication technology ICT in the organization of school and university education Internationally renowned researchers present theoretical perspectives with proposals for and evaluations of educational practices Each chapter discusses different aspects of the use of ICT in education including the role of perceptual processes in learning external cognition as support for interactive learning the role of meta cognition simulation learning environments as cognitive tools the role of science controversy for knowledge integration the use of ICT in the development of educators and the role of narratives in education ICT has great potential for revolutionizing education Large investments of resources are being made often without a strong understanding of how ICT will or should be implemented The expectation is that students will show immediate improvements in terms of their motivation to learn and their learning achievements but reality is different Progress of ICT in education requires more than just computers in the classroom It demands an understanding of the complex processes contributing to human learning and how they interact with new technologies This text provides theoretical perspectives on the learning processes that can be used as a foundation for constructing pedagogically valuable tools based on ICT The combination of results from cognitive science and pedagogy with more practically oriented suggestions for how ICT can be used in various forms of education makes this book suitable for researchers and students in the cognitive and educational sciences as well as for practitioners and planners of education English Journal ,1998

American Indian Stereotypes in the World of Children Arlene B. Hirschfelder,Paulette Fairbanks Molin,Yvonne Wakim,1999 Presents a collection of challenging articles detailing uses and abuses of Native American symbols images ideas and stories that are directed at youth in the mass media Toys cartoons textbooks general reading media portrayals sports logos nicknames and more are discussed in standalone articles Elementary Social Studies S.G. Grant,Bruce A. VanSledright,2014-03-14 Organized around four commonplaces of education learners and learning subject matter teachers and teaching and classroom environment Elementary Social Studies provides a rich and ambitious framework to help social studies teachers achieve powerful teaching and learning results By blending the theoretical and the practical the authors deeply probe the basic elements of quality instruction planning implementation and assessment always with the goal of creating and supporting students who are motivated engaged and thoughtful Book features and updates to the third edition include New chapter on classroom assessment that outlines and compares existing assessment strategies contextualizes them within the framework of state standards and articulates a constructivist approach that moves away from traditional high stakes testing towards more meaningful ways of evaluating student learning New chapter that highlights and explains key elements of the Common Core State Standards for English Language Arts and shows how the incorporation of critical ELA instruction into the social studies curriculum can foster more ambitious teaching and learning Real classroom narratives that introduce each chapter and provide in depth access to teaching and learning contexts Practical curriculum and resource suggestions for the social studies classroom End of chapter summaries and annotated teaching resources

Use-Conditional Meaning Daniel Gutzmann,2015-05-28 This book seeks to bring together the pragmatic theory of meaning as use with the traditional semantic approach that considers meaning in terms of truth conditions Daniel Gutzmann adopts core ideas by the philosopher David Kaplan in assuming that the meaning of expressions such as oops or damn can be captured by giving the conditions under which they can be felicitously used. He develops a multidimensional approach to meaning called hybrid semantics that incorporates use conditions alongside truth conditions in a unified framework. This new system overcomes the empirical gaps and conceptual problems associated with previous multidimensional systems; it also lessens the burden on the compositional system by shifting restrictions on the combination of use conditional expressions to the lexicon semantics interface instead of building them directly into the combinatoric rules. The approach outlined in this book can capture the entire meaning of complex expressions and also has natural applications in the analysis of sentence mood and modal particles in German as Gutzmann's two detailed case studies demonstrate. The book will be a valuable resource for linguists working in the fields of semantics, pragmatics and philosophy of language as well as to philosophers and cognitive scientists with an interest in meaning in language.
