

Silence - A Fable
by Edgar Allan Poe
(published 1838)

"Ours is a world of words: Quiet we call Silence -- which is the merest word of all"
-Al Aaraaf.

"Listen to me," said the Demon, as he placed his hand upon my head. "There is a spot upon this accursed earth which thou hast never yet beheld And if by any chance thou hast beheld it, it must have been in one of those vigorous dreams which come like the Simoon upon the brain of the sleeper who hath lain down to sleep among the forbidden sunbeams --among the sunbeams, I say, which slide from off the solemn columns of the melancholy temples in the wilderness. The region of which I speak is a dreary region in Libya, by the borders of the river Zaire. And there is no quiet there, nor silence.

"The waters of the river have a saffron and sickly hue --and they flow not onwards to the sea, but palpitate forever and forever beneath the red eye of the sun with a tumultuous and convulsive motion. For many miles on either side of the river's cozy bed is a pale desert of gigantic water-lilies. They sigh one unto the other in that solitude, and stretch towards the heaven their long ghastly necks, and nod to and fro their everlasting heads. And there is an indistinct murmur which cometh out from among them like the rushing of subterranean water. And they sigh one unto the other.

"But there is a boundary to their realm --the boundary of the dark, horrible, lofty forest. There, like the waves about the Hebrides, the low underwood is agitated continually. But there is no wind throughout the heaven. And the tall primeval trees rock eternally hither and thither with a crashing and mighty sound. And from their high summits, one by one, drop everlasting dews. And at the roots strange poisonous flowers lie writhing in perturbed slumber. And overhead, with a rustling and loud noise, the grey clouds rush westwardly forever, until they roll, a cataract, over the fiery wall of the horizon. But there is no wind throughout the heaven. And by the shores of the river Zaire there is neither quiet nor silence.

"It was night, and the rain fell; and, falling, it was rain, but, having fallen, it was blood. And I stood in the morass among the tall lilies, and the rain fell upon my head --and the lilies sighed one unto the other in the solemnity of their desolation.

Short Story Index ,1979 Edgar Allan Poe Arthur Hobson Quinn,1997-11-25 Renowned as the creator of the detective story and a master of horror the author of The Red Mask of Death The Black Cat and The Murders of the Rue Morgue Edgar Allan Poe seems to have derived his success from suffering and to have suffered from his success The Raven and The Tell Tale Heart have been read as signs of his personal obsessions and The Fall of the House of Usher and The Descent into the Maelstrom as symptoms of his own mental collapse Biographers have seldom resisted the opportunities to confuse the pathologies in the stories with the events in Poe s life Against this tide of fancy guesses and amateur psychologizing Arthur Hobson Quinn s biography devotes itself meticulously to facts Based on exhaustive research in the Poe family archive Quinn extracts the life from the legend and describes how they both were distorted by prior biographies
