

STUDY DESIGN: METHODS FOR DETERMINING THE PREDICTION

ACCURACY OF THE PREDICTION

DATA SOURCES

Primary Data Sources

Primary data sources include the following: (1) prospective cohort studies; (2) case-control studies; and (3) cross-sectional surveys.

Secondary Data Sources

- (1) Medical record databases (e.g., hospital discharge records, physician office visits, claims data)
- (2) Electronic medical records
- (3) Clinical trials

Note: Because the primary source of data may affect the validity of the prediction, it is important to consider the source of data when interpreting the results.

Study Design: Prospective Cohort Studies

Study Design: Case-Control Studies

Note: Study design should also take into account the potential for selection bias (e.g., if the study population does not represent the target population). (See Chapter 10 for more information.)

Starehe Boys Centre And School Papers:

Kenyan Youth Education in Colonial and Post-Colonial Times Peter Otiato Ojiambo,2017-08-03 This book examines Joseph Kamiru Gikubu's impact on Kenyan youth education. The author asserts that over his decades long career Gikubu played an active role in not only building and improving Kenyan youth education but also in demonstrating the role educational institutions play in imparting nation building skills. Gikubu's educational contributions were wide ranging and include both practical and theoretical aspects of education through his works in various juvenile rehabilitation programs and youth clubs as well as his insights on youth education and school leadership. Through Gikubu's educational work this volume interrogates Kenya's educational development transformation and entailed challenges. The book fills the gap in the dearth of African centered educational biographies and their role in shaping Africa's social political and economic spheres in both the colonial and post colonial period. It also addresses emerging scholarship in African educational biographies.

The official records of the proceedings of the Legislative Council of the Colony and Protectorate of Kenya the House of Representatives of the Government of Kenya and the National Assembly of the Republic of Kenya The City Makers of Nairobi Anders Ese,Kristin Ese,2020-07-21 The City Makers of Nairobi re examines the history of the urban development of Nairobi in the colonial period. Although Nairobi was a colonial construct with lasting negative repercussions the African population's impact on its history and development is often overlooked. This book shows how Africans took an active part in making use of the city and creating it and how they were far from being subjects in the development of a European colonial city. This re interpretation of Nairobi's history suggests that the post colonial city is the result of more than unjust and segregative colonial planning. Merging historical documentation with extensive contemporary urban theory this book provides in depth knowledge of the key historical roles played by locals in the development of their city. It argues that the idea of agency a popular inroad to urban development today is not a current phenomenon but one that has always existed.

with its many social spatial and physical ramifications This is an ideal read for upper level undergraduate and graduate students studying the history of urban development and theories providing an in depth case study for reference The City Makers of Nairobi broaches interdisciplinary themes important to urban planners social scientists historians and those working with popular settlements in cities across the world Kenya, Bridging Ethnic Divides Wairimu Nderitu,2018-12-12
