

-Reasons for issuing audit report

- The final step in the auditing process is the audit report.
- The auditor's report is a written letter from the auditor containing the opinion of whether
- A company's financial statements free from any material misstatement and comply with
- Generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP). Those standards could be IFRS, US GAAP Or local GAAP.
- -This opinion is based on auditor's findings and evaluation of audit evidence.
- If an auditor's opinion cannot be expressed the report should declare that conclusion.
- To assurance that the financial statements are free of material misstatements.
- -The user of an entity's financial statements depend on the audit report as proof that a knowledgeable third party has investigated and provided an opinion on the financial statements.
- The audit report is used by many stockholders including management, investors, shareholders, banks, the board of directors and government bodies.
- Many lenders are using an audit report that contains a clean opinion before they will loan Funds to a business.
- When a public company are reporting earnings to the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) the auditor's report is needed to be filed with its financial statements.
- The audit report isn't an examination of the earnings performance of the company or an evaluation if the company is a good investment.
- The report is just a measure of the accuracy of the financial statements.
- If the audit report is clean that means a company followed accounting standards.
- The audit reports and audited financial statements are used by Investors statements to evaluate the entity's financial position and financial performance for their investment opportunity.
- The audit report is used by shareholders and the board of directors to assess the probity of management and transparency of financial statements.
- The audit reports and financial statements are used by the government agency to evaluate the completeness and accuracy of the tax declaration
- .The audit report is the evidence that could demonstrate to the government that the entity is complying with the law.
- Many parent companies that have subsidiaries required their subsidiaries 'financial statements to be audited. This report could help them manage the subsidiary even more effectively.
- The auditor report is required to state whether the entity has any going concern problem or not.
- -The users of financial statements like lenders, investors and others base their plans and the descions on audit report
- An audit report is influencing the perceived value of any financial statement's audit.
