

FUN FITNESS ACTIVITIES FOR KIDS

FROM THE EDITORS

As practitioners in physical education, we recognize and value the importance of a physically active lifestyle and the significance of personal physical fitness. Many adults also realize this and can be found in gyms, clubs, fields and trails pursuing the benefits derived from physical activity. Children, however, often feel invincible and don't recognize that their level of inactivity will have long-term consequences.

This issue of The Physical Education and Intramural Clipboard addresses the concern of physical inactivity and children by alerting teachers to the fact that fitness can be fun! Fun fitness activities can motivate students to not only be active, but to also experience the joy of activity without the drudgery of monotonous and repetitive exercises. "Kids just want to have fun".

Fitness Bingo

Here's a Fitness Bingo game. The kids really enjoy it and, once you've done the initial set-up of creating the Bingo Cards, it's quite easy and runs itself.

Here is a sample Bingo card. You can create additional cards by copying, cutting, pasting and creating additional activities and placing them in different squares.

Instructions:

Kids work in teams of two or three. Place individual activity cards face down in the centre of the gym. Each group leader picks up an activity card and must complete the activity listed. The group marks their Bingo cards when the activity is complete, and then picks another activity card. The game is finished when a group yells out "Active". Background music is great at building on the students' energy.
