Overview

A Piece of Wood—or a Family's Soul?

Blues musician Boy Willie drives to Pittsburgh in 1936 to scrape together the money to buy his own farm in Mississippi, where his parents told him the family piano for money. His sister Berniece objects, then argues that selling the piano would be selling the family's soul.

Means to an End

Boy Willie sees the piano only as a source of cash for the land he craves.

Family Legacy

Generations of the Charles family have suffered and died for the piano.

Worth Fighting For

Flamboyant protection of their heritage, Berniece will not let go of the piano.

The Image of Man in Selected Plays of August Wilson Shamal Abu-Baker Hussein,2012-11-20 Wilson s approach can be seen as a communal romanticism dealing with ordinary people language and problems giving the priority to the feeling and human dignity over logic power and money putting freedom and equity as a pivotal concern almost presenting women and children as victims and highlighting the importance of heritage identity and culture As his self revision message all those three plays demonstrate scenes of black self review showing the blacks part of responsibility in the situation they live in It is a project of self rehabilitation for the blacks Since American society is a multicultural spectrum there is not any certain legibly ascribed American identity That is why Wilson does not submit to the claims of the dominant cultural trend by some white critics like Brustein Wilson confidently presents the blacks identity typified with self fulfilment and contribution to the American culture as his alternative contributory image of man against the white dominant models or the violent black ones
