

WORKING WITH LITERARY ANALYSIS PROMPTS

When I first read this story, I was struck by the way the author uses the dog's perspective to explore themes of loyalty and the human-animal bond. The dog's actions, particularly its decision to stay with its owner despite the challenges, are a powerful metaphor for the unconditional love and devotion that animals can offer. The story's setting, a small town with a close-knit community, further emphasizes the importance of the dog's role in the lives of its people.

Meaning-Focused Materials for Language Learning Marina Bouckaert,Monique Konings,Marjon van

Winkelhof,2019-01-10 This publication is a result of the joint conference held by MATSDA and Fontys University of Applied Sciences the Netherlands in Tilburg in June 2017 MATSDA is an international materials development association founded in 1993 which serves to bring together researchers teachers materials developers and publishers in an effort to improve the effectiveness of language learning materials The 2017 conference centred on issues related to the development of meaning focused materials for language learning and attracted presenters from twenty five countries stretching from Greenland to Brazil These issues are reflected in the chapters in this volume with each one focusing on a different aspect of meaning focused materials and many of them introducing the reader to previously unexplored facets of the theory of meaning focused instruction and its application to materials development The contributions here are of essential value to post graduate students to teachers to materials developers and to researchers They are written to be academically rigorous but at the same time accessible to newcomers to the field and to experienced experts alike

Step Ahead 3 Textbook (Express) , The Power of Identity and Ideology in Language Learning Peter I. De Costa, 2016-05-09 This critical ethnographic school based case study offers insights on the interaction between ideology and the identity development of individual English language learners in Singapore Illustrated by case studies of the language learning experiences of five Asian immigrant students in an English medium school in Singapore the author examines how the immigrant students negotiated a standard English ideology and their discursive positioning over the course of the school year Specifically the study traces how the prevailing standard English ideology interacted in highly complex ways with their being positioned as high academic achievers to ultimately influence their learning of English This potent combination of language ideologies and circulating ideologies created a designer student immigration complex By framing this situation as a complex the study problematizes the power of ideologies in shaping the trajectories and identities of language learners

The Role of Self-Esteem in Foreign Language Learning and Teaching Agnieszka Habrat, 2018-02-22 This book demonstrates how foreign language self esteem FLSE affects foreign language L2 learning and teaching and how it fluctuates with growing proficiency Further it explains the interaction between FLSE and a range of factors of recognized importance in second language acquisition SLA The theoretical part of the book presents the main pillars of self esteem as well as its notable influence on psychological functioning and learning with special emphasis being placed on L2 learning In turn the empirical part presents the findings of a study that explored the trajectory and behavioural outcomes of FLSE across three stages of education The book closes by outlining future research directions as well as some pedagogical implications In particular the findings of the study can be employed in teaching English as a foreign or second language by helping instructors understand the significance of learners individual differences

Multilingualism and Education in Africa Ruth W. Nding'u, Martin C. Njoroge, Daniel O. Orwenjo, 2014-10-16 This book is a must read for every language teaching professional and researcher working in a multilingual context

Multilingualism and Education in Africa The State of the State of the Art is an up to date exploration and wide ranging review of the symbiotic relationship between multilingualism and education in Africa The African continent is rich in languages Most of her inhabitants are multilingual and many of the nations have embraced multilingual education This book examines multilingualism in education from three broad perspectives multilingualism and language in education policy in Africa

multilingualism as an educational resource in Africa and attitudes and challenges of multilingualism and education in Africa The book s nineteen chapters discuss these three perspectives from East West Central and South Africa All the contributors are leading authorities in multilingualism and education The chapters combine a wide range of viewpoints based on theoretical empirical and personal experiences The reader is left with a deeper understanding of the unique features of multilingualism and education in Africa that have seldom been addressed by those who experience them first hand The book demonstrates successful practices in multilingualism and education showing how African nations have determined what works for them without ignoring challenges such as policies on paper attitudes towards African languages and limited resources The benefits of multilingual education override the challenges The book s extensive coverage makes it an important resource for scholars and policy makers in the field of multilingualism and education Overall this book represents an important contribution to an important subject in education globally The editors have provided an introductory overview to the book and commentaries on the three sections

Utilising Fiction to Promote English Language Acquisition

Suhair Al Alami,2013-07-29 The teaching of English in the United Arab Emirates is based upon the communicative approach and aims to enable EFL students to employ language skills for communication purposes as appropriate Personal experience and the author s colleagues observations however reveal that a number of EFL university students fail to achieve adequate communicative competence which in turn does not qualify them to exploit the foreign language of English as required by their curricula as well as by today s world Central to university education in the United Arab Emirates is critical thinking It seems reasonable then to assume that EFL university students are well equipped to tackle a reading text and to handle a writing task demonstrating through such activities an adequate repertoire of critical thinking skills Personal experience and the author s colleagues observations however indicate that this does not apply to a number of EFL university students studying in the country Seeking an effective remedy the author argues that utilising literature in the EFL classroom would be beneficial in terms of many essential aspects Based on a three year research project conducted at a private university in Dubai involving a number of EFL students the book concludes with some suggestions with regards to what criteria to adopt when utilising literary texts The current book as such is expected to be of use and interest to applied linguists as the study proposes an approach to integrating the teaching of language literature communication and critical thinking with the ultimate goal of promoting communicative competence and enhancing critical thinking on the part of EFL learners curricula designers since the study introduces a course for the enhancement of communicative competence and critical thinking and EFL instructors because the study offers instructional material which can be adopted or adapted when teaching EFL university students
