

In this Webinar, teachers will be shown how to break down the teaching of writing into small and manageable chunks and then link this directly to the development of oral language. We will develop a metalanguage for the teaching of writing that can then be carried across to a whole school approach and be represented in a scope and sequence of writing.

Mystery Solved John G. Laflamme Ed.D., 2021-12-23 The book covers writing concepts that are overlooked when teaching writing Though the writing process has contributed greatly to helping students improve their writing very little instruction exists to assist students in understanding how to organize the ideas once they have generated them Students need to be adept at identifying the function of each sentence in a paragraph Too often students write general statements about a topic and do not provide the concrete details needed to help the reader understand the point Teachers also want rigor in the writing curriculum but that often means assigning more and longer essays A rigorous writing curriculum can challenge students without adding to a teacher s correction load This book helps teachers achieve that balance

Spaces of Security Seth Low, Mark Maguire, 2019-01-22 An ethnographic investigation into the dynamics between space and security in countries around the world It is difficult to imagine two contexts as different as a soccer stadium and a panic room Yet they both demonstrate dynamics of the interplay between security and space This book focuses on the infrastructures of security considering locations as varied as public entertainment venues to border walls to blast proof bedrooms Around the world experts organizations and governments are managing societies in the name of security while scholars and commentators are writing about surveillance state violence and new technologies Yet in spite of the growing emphasis on security few truly consider the spatial dimensions of security and particularly how the relationship between space and security varies across cultures This volume explores spaces of security not only by attending to how security is produced by and in spaces but also by emphasizing the ways in which it is constructed in the contemporary landscape The book explores diverse contexts ranging from biometrics in India to counterterrorism in East Africa to border security in Argentina The ethnographic studies demonstrate the power of a spatial lens to highlight aspects of security that otherwise remain hidden while also adding clarity to an elusive and dangerous way of managing the world

Behr,2013-07-26 This book provides a full contextual study of St Irenaeus of Lyons the first great theologian of the Christian tradition John Behr sets Irenaeus both within his own context of the second century a fundamental period for the formation of Christian identity elaborating the distinction between orthodoxy and heresy and expounding a comprehensive theological vision and also within our own contemporary context in which these issues are very much alive again Against the commonly held position that orthodoxy was established by excluding others the heretics Behr argues that it was the self chosen separation of the heretics that provided the occasion for those who remained together to clarify the lineaments of their faith in a church that was catholic by virtue of embracing different voices in a symphony of many voices and whose chief architect was Irenaeus who as befits his name urged peace and toleration The first chapter explores Irenaeus background in Asia Minor as a disciple of Polycarp of Smyrna his activity in Gaul and his involvement with the Christian communities in Rome The theological and institutional significance of his interventions is made clear by tracing the coalescence of the initially fractionated communities in Rome into a united body over the first two centuries The second chapter provides a full examination of Irenaeus surviving writings concentrating especially on the literary and rhetorical structure of his five books Against the Heresies his refutation and overthrowal of his opponents in the first two books and his establishing a framework for articulating orthodoxy The final chapter explores the theological vision of Irenaeus itself on its own terms rather than the categories of later dogmatic theology grounded in an apostolic reading of Scripture and presenting a vibrant and vigorous account of the diachronic and synchronic economy or plan of God seen through the work of Christ which reveals how the Hands of God have been at work from the beginning fashioning the creature made from mud and animated with a breath of life into his own image and likeness vivified by the Holy Spirit to become a living human being the glory of God Resistant Hybridities Shelly Bhoil, 2020-11-12 With its analytic focus on the cultural production by Tibetans in exile this volume examines contemporary Tibetan fiction poetry music art cinema pamphlets testimony and memoir The twelve case studies highlight the themes of Tibetans self representation politicized national consciousness religious and cultural heritages and resistance to the forces of colonization This book demonstrates how Tibetan cultural narratives adjust to intercultural influences and ongoing social and political struggles in exile Planet of Slums Mike Davis, 2007-09-17 Celebrated urban theorist Davis provides a global overview of the diverse religious ethnic and political movements competing for the souls of the new urban poor The Bookseller, 1915 Official organ of the book trade of the United Kingdom Bookseller and the Stationery Trades' Journal, 1916 A Concept of Dramatic Genre and the Comedy of a New Type V. Ulea, 2002 Applying systems theory to the comedies of Chekhov Balzac Kleist Moliere and Shakespeare A Concept of Dramatic Genre and the Comedy of a New Type Chess Literature and Film approaches dramatic genre from the point of view of the degree of richness and strength of a character's potential Its main focus is to establish a methodology for analyzing the potential from multidimensional perspectives using systems thinking The whole concept is an alternative to the Aristotelian plot based approach and is applied to an analysis of western and eastern European authors as well as contemporary American film This innovative study consists of three parts The first part is mostly theoretical proposing a new definition of the dramatic as a category linked to general systems phenomena and offering a new classification of dramatic genre In the second part Ulea offers a textual analysis of some works based on this new classification She analyzes comedies tragedies and dramas on the same or similar topics in order to reveal what makes them belong to opposite types of dramatic genre Additionally she considers the question of fate and chance with regard to tragedy and comedy from the point of view of the predispositioning theory In the third part Ulea explores an analysis of the comedy of a new type CNT Her emphasis is on the integration of the part and the whole in approaching the protagonist's potential She introduces the term quasi strong potential in order to reveal the illusory strength of protagonists of the CNT and to show the technique of CNT's analysis and synthesis Ulea's research begins with the notion of the comic traditionally considered synonymous with the laughable and attempts to approach it as independent from the laughable and laughter The necessity to do so is dictated by the desire to penetrate the enigmatic nature of Chekhov's comedy The result is A Concept of Dramatic Genre and the Comedy of a New Type Chess Literature and Film a completely new approach to potential and systems thinking which has never been a focus of dramatic theory before Such potential is the touchstone of the comic and comedy their permanent basic characteristic the heart and axis around which the comedic world spins The Publishers Weekly, 1916 The Digital Humanities Christopher Millson-Martula, Kevin B. Gunn, 2020-06-29 The digital humanities in academic institutions and libraries in particular have exploded in recent years Librarians are constantly developing their management and technological skills and increasing their knowledge base As they continue to embed themselves in the scholarly conversations on campus the challenges facing subject liaison librarians technical service librarians and library administrators are many This comprehensive volume highlights the wide variety of theoretical issues discussed initiatives pursued and projects implemented by academic librarians Many of the chapters deal with digital humanities pedagogy planning and conducting training workshops institutes semester long courses embedded librarian instruction and instructional assessment with some chapters focusing specifically on applications of the ACRL Framework for Information Literacy for Higher Education The authors also explore a wide variety of other topics including the emotional labor of librarians the challenges of transforming static traditional collections into dynamic user centered digital projects conceptualizing and creating models of collaboration digital publishing and developing and planning projects including improving one's own project management skills This collection effectively illustrates how librarians are enabling themselves through active research partnerships in an ever changing scholarly environment This book was originally published as a special triple issue of the journal College Undergraduate Libraries

Remaking History Jerome De Groot, 2015-07-30 Remaking History considers the ways that historical fictions of all kinds enable a complex engagement with the past Popular historical texts including films television and novels along with cultural phenomena such as superheroes and vampires broker relationships to history while also enabling audiences to understand the ways in which the past is written structured and ordered Jerome de Groot uses examples from contemporary popular culture to show the relationship between fiction and history in two key ways Firstly the texts pedagogically contribute to the historical imaginary and secondly they allow reflection upon how the past is constructed as history In doing so they provide an accessible and engaging means to critique conceptualize and reject the processes of historical representation The book looks at the use of the past in fiction from sources including Mad Men Downton Abbey and Howard Brenton's Anne Boleyn along with the work of directors such as Terence Malick Quentin Tarantino and Martin Scorsese to show that fictional representations enable a comprehension of the fundamental strangeness of the past and the ways in which this foreign exotic other is constructed Drawing from popular films novels and TV series of recent years and engaging with key thinkers from Marx to Derrida Remaking History is a must for all students interested in the meaning that history has for fiction and vice
