Sound Curriculum Walter S. Gershon, 2017-06-26 Part of a growing group of works that addresses the burgeoning field of sound studies this book attends not only to theoretical and empirical examinations but also to methodological and philosophical considerations at the intersection of sound and education Gershon theoretically advances the rapidly expanding field of sound studies and simultaneously deepens conceptualizations and educational understandings across the fields of curriculum studies and foundations of education A feature of this work is the novel use of audio files aligned with the arguments within the book as well as the discussion and application of cutting edge qualitative research methods

Unified Fields Janine Rogers, 2014-12-01 Literary form presents an important opportunity for understanding the relationship between literature and science Through a series of close readings of poetry and prose Unified Fields demonstrates that formal structures in literature can relate to scientific concepts through their essential interpretive functions Janine Rogers engages with a wide range of writing from Canadian British and American authors including the poetry of Elizabeth Bishop and Robyn Sarah as well as prose by Margaret Atwood Ian McEwan and Stephen Hawking She employs an interdisciplinary approach combining formalist historical and theoretical literary practice informed by interpretive frameworks developed in the philosophy of science Although dedicated to contemporary texts Rogers's analysis is frequently rooted in historical contexts of form including Euclidean geometry and medieval romance developed when the distinction between literature and science was not so drastic These historical connections demonstrate that continuities of form resonate in both contemporary literature and science Through critical analysis and engaging prose Unified Fields bridges an important disciplinary gap by revealing how literary practice informs scientific understanding
