Maps: their untold stories Rose Mitchell, Andrew Janes, 2014-09-11 A map is a snapshot of a place a city a nation or even the world at a given point in time fascinating for what they tell us about the way our ancestors saw themselves their neighbours and their place in the world This magnificent collection drawn from seven centuries of maps held in the National Archives at Kew looks at a variety of maps from those found in 14th Century manuscripts through early estate maps to sea charts maps used in military campaigns and maps from treaties The text explores who the mapmakers were the purposes for which the maps were made and what it tells us about the politics of the time Great images are accompanied by compelling stories Featured is a woodcut map of 16th Century London a map of where the bombs fell during the Second World War and a map the first American settlers drew when they were attempting to establish a new empire on Roanoke Island off the coast of what is now North Carolina Richly illustrated with large scale reproductions of the maps the book also includes some of the more amusing or esoteric maps from the National Archives such as the map of the Great Exhibition in 1851 that was presented on a lady's glove a London Underground map in the form of a cucumber and a Treasure Island map used to advertise National Savings This is a fascinating and unusual journey through the world of maps and mapmakers

Morphisms and Categories Jean Piaget, Gil Henriques, Edgar Ascher, 2013-05-13 Despite dissent in many quarters Piaget's epistemology and the developmental psychology derived from it remain the most powerful theories in either field From the beginning Piaget's fundamental epistemological notion was that all knowledge is rooted in action and for a long time he identified action with transformation What is known is that which remains constant under transformatory action This book represents a fundamental reformulation of that point of view Alongside transformatory schemes Piaget now presents evidence that nontransformatory actions comparisons that create morphisms and categories among diverse situations constitute a necessary and complementary instrument of knowledge This work aims to elucidate that insight experimentally and theoretically and to understand the developmental interaction of comparing and transforming as knowledge is constructed This first English translation of Piaget's work includes studies of children's understanding of geometric forms machines and abstract concepts It contains a clear statement of his mature position on continuity with biology as well as with the history of ideas

Extreme Rambling Mark Thomas, 2011-04-14 Good fences make good neighbours but what about bad ones The Israeli separation barrier is probably the most iconic divider of land since the Berlin Wall It has been declared illegal under international law and its impact on life in the West Bank has been enormous Mark Thomas as only he could decided the only way to really get to grips with this huge divide was to use the barrier as a route map to walk the wall covering the entire distance with little more in his armoury than Kendal Mint Cake and a box of blister plasters In the course of his ramble he was tear gassed stoned sunburned rained on and hailed on and even lost the wall a couple of times But thankfully he was also welcomed and looked after by Israelis and Palestinians from farmers and soldiers to smugglers and zookeepers and finally earned a unique insight of the real Middle East in all its entrenched and yet life affirming glory And all without hardly ever getting arrested
