

REGRESSION

Press [stat], go to CALC, and choose the type of regression you want to use from the list (starting at 3).

LSRL can be found using 4: LinReg(ax+b) or 8: LinReg(a+bx). We'll use LinReg(ax+b) for the rest of this example.

Xlist: List with x values, usually L₁.

Ylist: List with y values, usually L₂.

FreqList: Usually blank, or the list containing frequencies if needed.

Store RegEQ: Optionally choose a y-variable to store the resulting equation in. Very useful if you want to see the graph. Press [alpha], trace, then 1 to store in Y₁ (or whichever you want to use.)

Then choose Calculate.

CALCULATING R AND R²

These are shown when you calculate the regression equation, but are turned off by default. To enable them:

Press [2nd], 0.

Press x⁻¹ to jump down the list.

Select DiagnosticOn and press [enter] twice.

VIEW THE REGRESSION EQUATION GRAPH

If you chose a y-var for Store RegEq earlier, it's already stored. Press [Y=] if you want to see it, or possibly change its style or color.

Otherwise, just press [graph]. If your scatterplot is still enabled, you will see both at the same time.

Statistics Richard A. Johnson, Gouri K. Bhattacharyya, 2019-01-30 Statistics Principles and Methods 8th Edition provides students and business professionals with a comprehensive introduction to statistics concepts terminology and methods with a wide array of practical applications Real world data provides an easily relatable frame of reference while numerous examples reinforce key ideas and demonstrate critical concepts to help ease student comprehension Designed for those seeking a highly practical introduction to statistical measurement reasoning and analysis this book requires no specific mathematical background and leaves derivations behind in favor of logic reasoning and modern statistics software Concepts are introduced first in a real life setting to illustrate immediate relevancy and are subsequently expanded to relate underlying mechanisms limitations and further applications An emphasis on the relationship between validity and assumptions underscores the importance of critical thinking and the use of appropriate models while instilling thoughtful habits that lead to accuracy in interpretation Going beyond the typical introductory text to keep the focus on application this book gives students a deeper understanding of statistics as it is used every day across disciplines and industries

Developing Thinking in Statistics Alan Graham, 2006-02-08 This book should prove to be an important addition to the relatively few publications that exist on statistical thinking It very nicely encourages the reader to take an active learning approach through simultaneously promoting pedagogy with knowledge and skills enhancement in statistics Understanding what the subject is for and what it can do are crucial in statistical education by getting the reader to think statistically Mr Graham has provided us with a very readable book that helps to dispel the poor reputation that statistics has acquired over many years Professor Neville Davies Director Royal Statistical Society Centre for Statistical Education

Nottingham Trent University Statistics is a key area of the school mathematics curriculum where maths and the real world meet. Although potentially a subject where teaching can be motivating and relevant to everyday concerns, it is often seen as boring and involving largely mechanical calculations. This book will enable teachers and others interested in statistical thinking to become excited and inspired by the big ideas of statistics and in turn teach them enthusiastically. Designed to heighten awareness of statistical ideas, the book explores key themes within statistics using ideas developed by the influential team at The Open University's Centre for Mathematics Education. Themes include Measurement, Variation, Randomness, Uncertainty. Arranged in an accessible, task-based format, this is an essential text for all secondary maths teachers and students of maths education. It is a comprehensive book that will illuminate and inspire interest in the subject based on innovative use of ICT, engaging narrative, firm research, and good practice. Developing Thinking in Statistics is a set book on the Open University Course ME626 Developing Statistical Thinking, part of the Graduate Diploma in Mathematics Education.
