BEYOND THE PALE Andy Carter, 2019-11-05 In the second half of the 19th century Britain ruled the largest and most culturally diverse empire the world had ever seen yet non European faces were a rarity in all but the larger port cities For the majority of Britons the colonies were seen as distant and exotic outposts populated by natives who were frequently characterised as alien and uncivilised Against this background the arrival of a touring party of Australian Aborigines in 1868 caused something of a sensation Initially viewed as a curiosity they soon won the public over with their athleticism and demeanour Over the following decades others followed in their footsteps well off Parsee amateur enthusiasts in the 1880s mixed race West Indian teams in the 1900s and the first Indian side composed of representatives of all her major communities in 1911 From the 1890s onwards the first individual Black and Asian players also began to appear for English club and county sides They came from a wide range of backgrounds some were princes others plantation workers and their stories once they reached Britain were equally diverse All of their stories are part of a tale in which cricket that most English of institutions became a catalyst for multi cultural Britain and helped shape emerging national identities in the Commonwealth

War Beyond the Battlefield David Grondin, 2013-09-13 In an effort to make sense of war beyond the battlefield in studying the wars that were captured under the rubric of the War on Terror this special issue book seeks to explore the complex spatial relationships between war and the spaces that one is not used to thinking of as the battlefield. It focuses on the conflicts that still animate the spaces and places where violence has been launched and that the war has not left untouched. In focusing on war beyond the battlefield, it is not that the battlefield as the place where war is waged has gone in smoke or has borne out of importance; it is rather the case that the battlefield has been displaced, redesigned, reshaped, and rethought through new spatializing practices of warfare. These new spaces of war, new in the sense that they are not traditionally thought of as spaces where war takes place or is brought to, are television screens, cellular phones, and bandwidth. George W. Bush's ranch in Crawford, Texas; videogames; popular culture sites; news media; blogs; and so on. These spaces of war beyond the battlefield are crucial to understanding what goes on in the battlefield in Iraq, Afghanistan, or in other fronts of the War on Terror, such as the homeland, to understand how terror has globally been waged beyond the battlefield.

This book was originally published as a special issue of Geopolitics. Beyond the Epic Gene D. Phillips, 2006-11-24 Two-time Academy Award winner Sir David Lean (1908-1991) was one of the most prominent directors of the twentieth century, responsible for the classics The Bridge on the River Kwai (1957), Lawrence of Arabia (1962), and Doctor Zhivago (1965). British-born Lean asserted himself in Hollywood as a major filmmaker with his epic storytelling and panoramic visions of history, but he started out as a talented film editor and director in Great Britain. As a result, he brought an art-house mentality to blockbuster films. Combining elements of biography and film criticism, Beyond the Epic: The Life and Films of David Lean uses screenplays and production histories to assess Lean's body of work. Author Gene D. Phillips interviews actors who worked with Lean and directors who knew him, and their comments reveal new details about the director's life and career. Phillips also explores Lean's lesser-studied films, such as The Passionate Friends (1949), Hobson's Choice (1954), and Summertime (1955). The result is an in-depth examination of the director in cultural, historical, and cinematic contexts. Lean's approach to filmmaking was far different than that of many of his contemporaries. He chose his films carefully and, as a result, directed only sixteen films in a period of more than forty years. Those films, however, have become some of the landmarks of motion picture history. Lean is best known for his epics, but Phillips also focuses on Lean's successful adaptations of famous works of literature, including retellings of plays such as Brief Encounter (1945) and novels such as Great Expectations (1946), Oliver Twist (1948), and A Passage to India (1984). From expansive studies of war and strife to some of literature's greatest high comedies and domestic dramas, Lean imbued all of his films with his unique creative vision. Few directors can match Lean's ability to combine narrative sweep and psychological detail, and Phillips goes beyond Lean's epics to reveal this unifying characteristic in the director's body of work. Beyond the Epic is a vital assessment of a great director's artistic process and his place in the film industry.
