Researching and Understanding Educational Networks Robert McCormick, Alison Fox, Patrick Carmichael, Richard Procter, 2010-06-25 In the twenty first century what could be more important than networks Such is the power of their influence and attendant technologies that it is unsurprising that our thinking about networks is permeated with images and metaphors from electronic networks This orientation may equally influence thinking about education whether that is of students or teachers Researching and Understanding Educational Networks extends the discussion of educational networks in a unique and novel way by relating it to teacher learning Following an investigation of teacher and school networks in the UK the authors found that theoretical perspectives taken from existing work on such networks were not adequate to provide an understanding of their potential nor to provide the basis for researching them in ways that reflected the variety of teacher experience This book presents analyses of the problems with existing theories of teacher learning which for example draw on ideas of communities of practice and explores what network theories can be brought to the problem of how teachers and schools create and share new knowledge about practice Innovative networking theories discussed include social network analysis social capital theories actor network theory investigations of electronic networks including computer mediated conferencing how people learn at events such as conferences Researching and Understanding Educational Networks explores a new application of networks theories derived from quite different fields of work and extends it both by being concerned about networks beyond organisations and specifically about educational networks Their application to educational networks and to teacher learning in particular is a unique contribution of the book This enables it to be of interest to both researchers and those studying for higher degrees including students who are professionals working in schools Catalog of Copyright Entries. Resources in Education , 1999 Construction Innovation Finn Orstavik, Andrew R. J. Dainty, Carl Abbott, 2015-04-20 Construction innovation is an important but contested concept both in industry practice and academic reflection and research A fundamental reason for this is the nature of the construction industry itself the industry and the value creation activities taking place there are multi disciplinary heterogeneous distributed and often fragmented This book takes a new approach to construction innovation revealing different perspectives set in a broader context It coalesces multiple theoretical and practice based views in order to stimulate reflection and to prepare the ground for further synthesis By being clear cogent and unambiguous on the most basic definitions it can mobilise a plurality of perspectives on innovation to promote fresh thinking on how it can be studied enabled measured and propagated across the industry This book does not gloss over the real life complexity of construction innovation. Instead its authors look explicitly at the challenges that conceptual issues entail and by making their own position clear they open up fresh intellectual space for reflection. Construction Innovation examines innovation from different positions and through different conceptual lenses to reveal the richness that the theoretical perspectives offer to our understanding of the way that the construction sector actors innovate at both project and organizational levels. The editors have brought together here leading scholars to deconstruct the concept of innovation and to discuss the merits of different perspectives, their commonalities and their diversity. The result is an invaluable sourcebook for those studying and leading innovation in the design, the building and the maintenance of our built environment.

Handbook of Children and Youth Studies Johanna Wyn, Helen Cahill, Hernán Cuervo, 2024-08-20. This second edition of the handbook gives a new scientific perspective to youth and childhood studies as multi scientific and interdisciplinary subjects which as such have not yet found their own framing in a particular discipline. It provides theoretical and methodological key debates and issues that develop and add an understanding of childhood and youth research discipline from a broader perspective. The Handbook on Children and Youth Studies draws on current thinking but also challenges theoretical and conceptual orthodoxies in the field drawing on interdisciplinary thinking and critical perspectives. It focuses on childhood and youth to address the emerging consensus that the boundaries between childhood, youth and adulthood are blurred. The view that defining youth and childhood largely in terms of problem topics is out dated. Instead the handbook focuses on 16 themes that are open to international perspectives and to different conceptual approaches. Each theme is edited by a pair of field editors thereby capturing a plurality of views. The 16 themes as a starting point are globally timely and they need scientific debates on the boundaries between childhoods, youth and adulthood. This handbook will meet the needs of childhood and youth researchers and the academics in the field. It recognizes the changing social context of the lives of children and young people while developing theoretical frameworks and discussing about the core substantive issues of Children and Youth Studies.

Influential Peers! Consumer behavior and complex business relationships in food supply chain networks Christoph Wiedenroth, 2024-01-25. Consumers and primary producers are identified as important stakeholders in the necessary evolution to more sustainable agri food supply chains. To contribute to their sustainable development this dissertation analyzes both consumers' current sustainability led food consumption trends and complex interactions among primary producers in food supply chain networks. FSCN. With respect to consumers the influence of consumer comprehension on purchasing behavior of food products that carry sustainable food labels is investigated. Furthermore characteristics of food consumption trends receptive to technological innovations namely social media marketing and driven by social innovations, this being consumers' motives to consume food products for health related luxury reasons are analyzed. Among primary producers this dissertation investigates the influence of multiplex relationship dynamics i.e. the influence of business and personal relationship dynamics among social network members on farmers.
