Sloane, T. W. Tesche, 1991-03-16 This book draws upon the knowledge and experience of modeling experts currently engaged in conducting assessments regarding the predictive strength of atmospheric models The book covers all of the major important atmospheric areas including large scale models for ozone depletion and global warming regional scale models for urban smog ozone and visibility impairment and acid rain as well as accompanying models of cloud processes and biofeedbacks Atmospheric scientists and regulators should consider this book required reading Prioritizing Web Usability Jakob Nielsen, Hoa Loranger, 2006-04-20 In 2000 Jakob Nielsen the world's leading expert on Web usability published a book that changed how people think about the Web Designing Web Usability New Riders Many applauded A few jeered But everyone listened The best selling usability guru is back and has revisited his classic guide joined forces with Web usability consultant Hoa Loranger and created an updated companion book that covers the essential changes to the Web and usability today Prioritizing Web Usability is the guide for anyone who wants to take their Web site's to next level and make usability a priority Through the authors wisdom experience and hundreds of real world user tests and contemporary Web site critiques you'll learn about site design user experience and usability testing navigation and search capabilities old guidelines and prioritizing usability issues page design and layout content design and more Mountain Weather Research and Forecasting Fotini K. Chow, Stephan F.J. De Wekker, Bradley J. Snyder, 2012-08-30 This book provides readers with a broad understanding of the fundamental principles driving atmospheric flow over complex terrain and provides historical context for recent developments and future direction for researchers and forecasters The topics in this book are expanded from those presented at the Mountain Weather Workshop which took place in Whistler British Columbia Canada August 5-8 2008 The inspiration for the workshop came from the American Meteorological Society AMS Mountain Meteorology Committee and was designed to bridge the gap between the research and forecasting communities by providing a forum for extended discussion and joint education For academic researchers this book provides some insight into issues important to the forecasting community For the forecasting community this book provides training on fundamentals of atmospheric processes over mountainous regions which are notoriously difficult to predict The book also helps to provide a better understanding of current research and forecast challenges including the latest contributions and advancements to the field The book begins with an overview of mountain weather and forecasting challenges specific to complex terrain followed by chapters that focus on diurnal mountain valley flows that develop under calm conditions and dynamically driven winds under strong forcing The focus then shifts to other phenomena specific to mountain regions Alpine foehn boundary layer and air quality issues orographic precipitation processes and microphysics parameterizations Having covered the major physical processes the book shifts to observation and modelling techniques used in mountain regions including model configuration and parameterizations such as turbulence and model applications in operational forecasting The book concludes with a discussion of the current state of research and forecasting in complex terrain including a vision of how to bridge the gap in the future
