

Spiral Curriculum: (Bruner) exposes students to a topic or theme several times with increasing complexity and in context to existing experiences. (students' learning ability changes overtime, learning should not be in isolation, but rather build on one another)

Constructivist Teaching: students build upon prior knowledge to construct new meaning. Encourages students to take ownership in learning. The teacher is to facilitate interactive discovery learning and avoid direct instruction or passive learning.
-learning as experience -problem based learning -PBL -scaffolding

A)Inquiry-based Learning: form of active learning that starts by posing questions, problems or scenarios—rather than simply presenting established facts or portraying a smooth path to knowledge. The process is often assisted by a facilitator. Inquirers will identify and research issues and questions to develop their knowledge or solutions.

Indirect Instruction: based on student-led activities where the teacher is the facilitator

Interdisciplinary Learning: enables teachers and learners to make connections across learning through exploring clear and relevant links across the curriculum. It supports the use and application of what has been taught and learned in new and different ways. It provides opportunities for deepening learning, for example through answering big questions, exploring an issue, solving problems or completing a final project.

Divergent Thinking: thought process or method used to generate creative ideas by exploring many possible solutions.

Three Domains of Learning: Bloom

- 1 Cognitive: mental skills (knowledge)
- 2 Affective: growth in feelings or emotional areas (attitude or self)
- 3 Psychomotor: manual or physical skills (skills)

Interdisciplinary Instruction: synthesizes more than one discipline and relies on teams of teachers

Vicarious Learning: learning that is derived from indirect sources such as hearing or observation, rather than direct, hands-on, instruction.

What do students change: what they learn

As do conditions: change how they learn

Body Technologies in the Greco-Roman World

Maria Gerolemou, Giulia Maria Chesi, 2023-11-16 A collection of papers that introduces the notion of the technosoma techno body into discussions on the representations of the body in classical antiquity By applying the category of the technosoma to the natural body this volume explicitly narrows down the discussion of the technical and the natural to the physiological body In doing so the present collection focuses on body technologies in the specific form of beautification and body enhancement techniques as well as medical and surgical treatments The volume elucidates two main points Firstly ancient techno bodies show that the categories of gender and sexuality are at the core of the intersection of the natural and the technical and intersect with notions of race age speciesism class and education and disability Secondly the collection argues that new body technologies have in fact a very ancient history that can help to address the challenges of contemporary technological innovation To this end the volume showcases the intersection of natural bodies with technology gender sexuality and reproduction On the one hand techno bodies tend to align with normative ideas about gender and sexuality On the other hand body modification and or enhancement techniques work hand in hand with economic and political power and knowledge thus they often produce techno bodies that are shaped according to individual needs i e according to a certain lifestyle Consequently techno bodies threaten to alter traditional ideas of masculinity femininity male and female sexuality and beauty
