The Black Image in the White Mind Robert M. Entman, Andrew Rojecki, 2024-05-31 Living in a segregated society white Americans learn about African Americans not through personal relationships but through the images the media show them The Black Image in the White Mind offers the most comprehensive look at the intricate racial patterns in the mass media and how they shape the ambivalent attitudes of Whites toward Blacks Using the media and especially television as barometers of race relations Robert Entman and Andrew Rojecki explore but then go beyond the treatment of African Americans on network and local news to incisively uncover the messages sent about race by the entertainment industry from prime time dramas and sitcoms to commercials and Hollywood movies While the authors find very little in the media that intentionally promotes racism they find even less that advances racial harmony They reveal instead a subtle pattern of images that while making room for Blacks implies a racial hierarchy with Whites on top and promotes a sense of difference and conflict Commercials for example feature plenty of Black characters But unlike Whites they rarely speak to or touch one another In prime time the few Blacks who escape sitcom buffoonery rarely enjoy informal friendly contact with White colleagues perhaps reinforcing social distance in real life Entman and Rojecki interweave such astute observations with candid interviews of White Americans that make clear how these images of racial difference insinuate themselves into Whites thinking Despite its disturbing readings of television and film the book's cogent analyses and proposed policy guidelines offer hope that America's powerful mediated racial separation can be successfully bridged Entman and Rojecki look at how television news focuses on black poverty and crime out of proportion to the material reality of black lives how black experts are only interviewed for black themed issues and how black politics are distorted in the news and conclude that while there are more images of African Americans on television now than there were

years ago these images often don't reflect a commitment to racial comity or community building between the races

Thoroughly researched and convincingly argued Publishers Weekly Drawing on their own research and that of a wide array of other scholars Entman and Rojecki present a great deal of provocative data showing a general tendency to devalue blacks or force them into stock categories Ben Yagoda New Leader Winner of the Frank Luther Mott Award for best book in Mass Communication and the Robert E Lane Award for best book in political psychology

The New Thesaurus of English Words and Phrases Classified and Arranged So as to Facilitate the Expression of Ideas and Assist in Literary Composition, Based on the Classic Work of P. M. Roget Christopher Orlando Sylvester Mawson, 1911

The Role of Emotion and Reflection in Student Achievement Lee Oberparleiter, 2011-12-29 The book introduces readers to the two ways the brain is programmed to learn It explains how these two systems affect classroom instruction and explains how the events of the culture affect brain development It also explains how to set up a brain compatible classroom and the underlying principles that guide all student learning The book is loaded with student projects of all kinds that are emotionally engaging to students and help them learn more successfully The book also explains how the emotional part of the brain the limbic system many times interferes with learning and prevents reasoning thinking and problem solving to occur preventing students from using the rational parts of the brain the frontal lobe system to occur The book explores how dysfunctional behavior in school such as ADD ADHD are related to school skill development and achievement The argument is made that pre requisite school success skills that lead to proficiency in reading writing calculating and problem solving are not really taught but merely assumed to be learned from the home and the early grades Not only that but these pre requisite skills are ALL found in the frontal lobe executive functions The students who have those skills are almost always the high achievers in school Those students that don't have these school success skills simply don't achieve at the level of the other students who have those skills
