Time S Potential Power Petitions 118:

Performance-Based Reporting Hans V.A. Johnsson, Per Erik Kihlstedt, 2005-09-21 The successfully proven alternative system for relevant business reporting through performance management Performance Based Reporting shows businesses how traditional accounting fails to provide meaningful measures for performance and presents radically innovative and thoroughly tested methods for performance oriented management assessment and reporting Twenty five years in the making this helpful book also presents The Baseline Approach to management assessment and reporting composed of eighty percent accounting free methods Performance Based Reporting presents the culmination of intense experiments involving more than 1 500 businesses and over 4 000 executives It definitively proves the need for new tools for realistic business planning and management in an unpredictable world These tools already exist and this helpful guide walks readers through the process of implementing them to help firms improve their ability to predict the direction they should take in the future The Search for the Sacred: Is Holiness a State of Space, Time or Mind? Rabbi David Paskin, 2016-07-28 Rabbi David Paskin s The Search for the Sacred is an articulate amplification of the Torah s command to be holy to fully BE How urgently needed this message in today s increasingly fragile world How blessed we are to be granted access to this curated collection of wisdom from one of our great teachers Menachem Creditor Rabbi Congregation Netivot Shalom Berkeley CA Founder Rabbis Against Gun Violence The search for the sacred has taken people of faith and those still navigating the waters of belief far and wide We have built majestic cathedrals and meditated quietly as we ve walked on the sea shores We have found quiet moments in the hustle and bustle of our busy days and religiously attended communal prayer gatherings In The Search for the Sacred David explores the history of this search and how we can continue to find holiness in our lives today State Building in Boom Times Ryan Saylor, 2014 State Building in Boom Times argues that commodity booms and coalitional politics are central to understanding the state building variation within and across Latin America and Africa It shows how resource booms can trigger the provision of new public goods and institutional strengthening and thus help countries expand their state capacity But these possibilities hinge on coalitional politics as seen through six cases Countries ruled by export oriented coalitions Argentina Chile and Mauritius expanded their state capacity as a direct result of commodity booms But countries in which exporters were politically marginalized Colombia Ghana and Nigeria missed analogous state building opportunities because ruling coalitions preyed upon export wealth rather than promoting export interests via state building The coalitional basis of these divergent outcomes suggests that contrary to the prevailing belief in a resource curse natural resource wealth does not necessarily dispose countries to low state capacity Instead export oriented coalitions can harness boom times for developmental gains even in the context of weak institutions This finding warrants reappraising some widespread presumptions about the relationship between resource wealth and state building as well as the public policies that are commonly proposed for developing countries to manage their natural resource wealth Constitution, Democracy and

State Power Joshua Cohen, Archon Fung, 1996 A just society guarantees its members rights to basic civil liberties protecting the political liberties associated with democratic governance while ensuring state accountability and responsiveness to citizens Despite broad agreement on these abstract requirements the conditions that foster justice thus understood are a matter of long standing controversy in political theory This important collection addresses these controversies with over fifty articles on basic political institutions such as the rule of law judicial review federalism separation of powers freedom of speech elections and parties direct democracy organized social groups and administrative agencies

Reporting the Cuban Revolution Leonard Ray Teel, 2015-12-16 Reporting the Cuban Revolution reveals the untold story of thirteen American journalists in Cuba whose stories about Fidel Castro's revolution changed the way Americans viewed the conflict and altered U S foreign policy in Castro's favor Between 1956 and 1959 the thirteen correspondents worked underground in Cuba evading the repressive censorship of Fulgencio Batista's dictatorship in order to report on the rebellion led by Fidel Castro The journalists' stories appeared in major newspapers magazines and national television and radio influencing Congress to abruptly cut off shipments of arms to Batista in 1958 Castro was so appreciative of the journalists' efforts to publicize his rebellion that on his first visit to the United States as premier of Cuba he invited the reporters to a private reception at the Cuban Embassy in Washington where he presented them with engraved gold medals While the medals revealed Castro's perception of the correspondents as like minded partisans the journalists themselves had no such intentions Some had journeyed to Cuba in pursuit of scoops that could rejuvenate or jump start their careers others sought to promote press freedom in Latin America still others were simply carrying out assignments from their editors Bringing to light the disparate motives and experiences of the thirteen journalists who reported on this crucial period in Cuba's history Reporting the Cuban Revolution is both a masterwork of narrative nonfiction and a deft analysis of the tension between propaganda and objectivity in the work of American foreign correspondents
