Paul Auster Mark Brown, 2013-07-19 Paul Auster provides the first extended analysis of Auster s essays poetry fiction films and collaborative projects It explores his key themes of identity language and writing metropolitan living and community and storytelling and illusion By tracing how Auster s representations of New York and city life have matured from a position of urban nihilism to qualified optimism the book shows how the variety of forms he works in influences the treatment of his central concerns The chapters are organised around gradually extending spaces to reflect the way in which Auster s work broadens its focus beginning with the poet s room and finishing with the global metropolis of New York his home city and often his muse The book uses Auster s published and unpublished literary essays to explain the shifts from the dense and introspective poems of the 70s through the metropolitan fictions of the 80s and early 90s to the relatively optimistic and critically acclaimed films and his return to fiction in recent years Motherland Luke

Pepera,2025-06-03 A groundbreaking exploration of 500 000 years of African history cultures and identity Historian archaeologist and anthropologist Luke Pepera takes us on a personal journey discovering 500 000 years of African history and cultures in order to reclaim and reconnect with this extraordinary heritage He tackles the question many people of African descent ask Who are we Where do we come from What defines us And it explores how knowledge of this deeper history might affect current understandings of African identity Through thematically linked chapters that explore aspects of African identity from nomadic culture and matriarchal society to beliefs about the afterlife and the tradition of oral storytelling and interwoven with Luke s own experiences of exploring his Ghanaian family history and his personal questions of identity this is a comprehensive relevant and beautifully told new history of Africa and how it has shaped the world we know today

90 Days To Your Novel Sarah Domet,2010-11-29 Got 90 Days Then You Can Be a Novelist Many famous authors write their novels in a matter of weeks William Faulkner wrote As I Lay Dying in six weeks Joyce Carol Oates often cranks out two or three books a year Stephen King believes first drafts should take no more than three months to complete So what s the trick Novel writing isn t about inspiration It s about the time energy and discipline to see the project to its finish With 90 Days To Your Novel at your side now is the time This inspiring guide will be your push your deadline and your spark to finally without excuses and in three short months nail that first draft of your novel The difference between wanna be writers and real writers is the difference between talk and work If you commit to the schedule and the techniques within 90 Days to Your Novel and invest two to three hours a day for twelve weeks you will complete your book An outline will appear Characters will take shape A plot will emerge Scenes will come together and form a story worth reading And then the talking can begin This helpful guide provides Instruction that distills the elements of the novel from crafting your outline to developing intriguing characters and believable plots Strategies for gaining support from your family and friends Motivating insights about writing and writers to minimize your inevitable moments of doubt A schedule to keep you in the writing zone and keep you focused creative and working Whether you re writing your first novel or your third this guide provides the coaching the planning and the writerly commiseration to help get your book written Timbuktu. Auster,2001 Pet Projects Elizabeth Young,2019-12-17 In Pet Projects Elizabeth Young joins an analysis of the representation of animals in nineteenth century fiction taxidermy and the visual arts with a first person reflection on her own scholarly journey Centering on Margaret Marshall Saunders a Canadian woman writer once famous for her animal novels and incorporating Young s own experience of a beloved animal s illness this study highlights the personal and intellectual stakes of a pet project of cultural criticism Young assembles a broad archive of materials beginning with Saunders s novels and widening outward to include fiction nonfiction photography and taxidermy She coins the term first dog voice to describe the narrative technique of novels such as Saunders's Beautiful Joe written in the first person from the perspective of an animal. She connects this voice to contemporary political issues revealing how animal fiction such as Saunders's reanimates nineteenth century writing about both feminism and slavery. Highlighting the prominence of taxidermy in the late nineteenth century she suggests that Saunders transforms taxidermic techniques in surprising ways that provide new forms of authority for women. Young adapts Freud to analyze literary representations of mourning by and for animals and she examines how Canadian writers including Saunders use animals to explore race ethnicity and national identity. Her wide ranging investigation incorporates twenty first as well as nineteenth century works of literature and culture including recent art using taxidermy and contemporary film. Throughout she reflects on the tools she uses to craft her analyses examining the state of scholarly fields from feminist criticism to animal studies. With a lively first person voice that highlights experiences usually concealed in academic studies by scholarly discourse such as detours zigzags roadblocks and personal experience this unique and innovative book will delight animal enthusiasts and academics in the fields of animal studies gender studies American studies and Canadian studies.
