Strategic Maneuvering for Political Change Ahmed Abdulhameed Omar,2019-02-15 In Strategic Maneuvering for Political Change the author analyzes five political columns written before 2011 by Al Aswany a prominent Egyptian novelist using the lens of the extended pragma dialectical theory of argumentation What these texts have in common is the use of narrative fictional and semi literary techniques to strategically maneuver in supporting the feasibility of political change It is a contribution to explain how an anti regime writer paved the way to the Arab Spring in Egypt and thus goes against a common opinion that the Arab Spring in Egypt was fortuitous or a wholly social media based movement This monograph is an attempt to help argumentation theorists linguists analysts of narratives and political scientists better understand and evaluate how fiction and narration can be effective means of persuasion in the domain of political communication It therefore reconsiders the non straightforward and artistic variants of the language of politics

After the American Century Brian T. Edwards,2015-12-01 When Henry Luce announced in 1941 that we were living in the American century he believed that the international popularity of American culture made the world favorable to U S interests

Now in the digital twenty first century the American century has been superseded as American movies music and video games are received understood and transformed How do we make sense of this shift Building on a decade of fieldwork in Cairo Casablanca and Tehran Brian T Edwards maps new routes of cultural exchange that are innovative accelerated and full of diversions Shaped by the digital revolution these paths are entwined with the growing fragility of American soft power They indicate an era after the American century in which popular American products and phenomena such as comic books teen romances social networking sites and ways of expressing sexuality are stripped of their associations with the United States and recast in very different forms Arguing against those who talk about a world in which American culture is merely replicated or appropriated Edwards focuses on creative moments of uptake in which Arabs and Iranians make something unexpected He argues that these products do more than extend the reach of the original They reflect a world in which culture endlessly circulates and gathers new meanings Sexuality in Muslim Contexts Anissa Helie,Homa

Hoodfar,2012-10-11 This groundbreaking book explores resistance against the harsh policing of sexuality in some Muslim societies Many Muslim majority countries still use religious discourse to enforce stigmatization and repression of those especially women who do not conform to sexual norms promoted either by the state or by non state actors In this context Islam is often stigmatized in Western discourse for being intrinsically restrictive with respect to women s rights and sexuality The authors show that conservative Muslim discourse does not necessarily match practices of believers or of citizens and that women s empowerment is facilitated where indigenous and culturally appropriate strategies are developed Using case studies from Pakistan Iran Indonesia China Bangladesh Israel and India they argue persuasively that Muslim religious traditions do not necessarily lead to conservative agendas but can promote emancipatory standpoints An intervention to the construction of Muslim women as uniformly subordinate this collection spearheads an unprecedented wake of organizing around sexualities in Muslim communities Contemporary Cinema of Africa and the Diaspora Anjali Prabhu,2014-06-23
