Abstract—This paper presents an analysis of the impact of the 1997-1998 Asian financial crisis on the export performance of the manufacturing sector in the Republic of Korea. The results show that the crisis had a significant negative impact on the export performance of the manufacturing sector in the Republic of Korea. The impact was particularly severe for the export of capital goods and consumer goods. The results also show that the impact of the crisis was more severe for the export of capital goods and consumer goods than for the export of intermediate goods. The results suggest that the government should take measures to support the export performance of the manufacturing sector in the Republic of Korea.

Abstract The purpose of this study was to determine whether there were differences in the prevalence of risk factors for coronary artery disease between men who had been exposed to asbestos and those who had not. A case-control study was conducted among men aged 40-69 years who had been exposed to asbestos at work or home. The prevalence of risk factors for coronary artery disease was compared between the two groups. The results showed that the prevalence of risk factors for coronary artery disease was significantly higher in the exposed group than in the non-exposed group.
