Wanda Awakened English Edition:

A Korean Scholar's Rude Awakening in Qing China Pak Chega, 2019-07-31 Two years after Adam Smith's Wealth of Nations was published in 1776 Pak Chega's 1750-1805 Discourse on Northern Learning appeared on the opposite corner of the globe. Both books presented notions of wealth and the economy for critical review; the former caused a stir across Europe, the latter influenced only a modest group of Chosŏn 1392-1897 Korea scholars and other intellectuals. Nevertheless, the ideas of both thinkers closely reflected the spirit of their times and helped define certain schools of thought. In the case of Pak's Northern Learning Pukhak, which disparaged the Chosŏn Neo-Confucian state ideology as inert and ineffective, years of humiliation and resentment against the conquering Manchus blinded many Korean elites to the scientific and technological advances made in Qing China 1644-1911. They despised its rulers as barbarians and begrudged Qing China's status as their suzerain state. But Pak saw Korea's northern neighbor as a model of economic and social reform. He and like-minded progressives discussed and corroborated views about the superiority of China's civilization. After traveling to Beijing in 1776, Pak wrote Discourse on Northern Learning in which he favorably introduced many aspects of China's economy and culture. By comparison, he argued, Korea's economy was depressed, the result of inadequate government policies and the selfishness of a privileged upper class. He called for drastic reforms in agriculture and industry and for opening the country to international trade. In a series of short essays, Pak gives us rare insights into life on the ground in late eighteenth-century Korea, and in many details he supplies on Chinese farming, trade, and other commercial activities, his work provides a window onto everyday life in Qing China. Students and specialists of Korean history, particularly social reform movements and Chosŏn-Qing relations, will welcome this new translation.

Black Orpheus, Transition, and Modern Cultural Awakening in Africa Peter Benson, 2023-04-28 Black Orpheus and Transition stand as towering landmarks in Africa's cultural and intellectual history between 1957 and 1978, serving as incubators for the continent's postcolonial literary and artistic awakening. Founded in 1957 by Ulli Beier in Nigeria, Black Orpheus was a platform for artistic experimentation and dialogue, initially inspired by the Paris-based Présence Africaine but quickly evolving into its own distinctive voice. Beier's initiatives, such as the Mbari Clubs in Ibadan and Oshogbo, complemented the magazine's mission, offering creative spaces that nurtured some of Africa's most notable artists and writers. By 1961, Transition, founded in Uganda by Rajat Neogy, emerged as a dynamic forum for cultural redefinition and incisive political commentary. Both publications became indispensable for grappling with the intellectual and cultural challenges of decolonization, exploring themes ranging from African aesthetics to the politics of independence. Despite their profound influence, neither magazine enjoyed smooth trajectories. Black Orpheus weathered internal upheavals with a second editorial generation led by Abiola Irele and J. P. Clark taking the reins and redefining its vision. Meanwhile, Transition faced outright suppression when Neogy was imprisoned for sedition in Uganda. Relocating to Ghana under the stewardship of Wole Soyinka, the magazine continued to thrive, but both journals struggled to adapt to Africa's rapidly evolving post independence realities Their pages reflected a rich tapestry of debates pan Africanism versus tribalism artistic primitivism versus modernism and indigenous languages versus Western literary conventions Ultimately these magazines were more than periodicals they were crucibles of creativity and intellectual exchange that catalyzed a generation of thinkers and writers While their eventual closures were due to economic and logistical challenges their legacy as formative platforms for Africa's modern cultural identity remains unparalleled This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1986

A Library of the World's Best Literature - Ancient and Modern - Vol. XLV (Forty-Five Volumes); Synopses of Famous Books & General Index Charles Dudley Warner, 2009-01-01

It would be enough to recommend this astonishing 45-volume set first published in 1896 if it were merely a wonderfully massive compilation of the world's best writings from the world's best authors up until the advent of the 20th century. But A Library of the World's Best Literature is so much more than that. For this marvelous collection represents the evolution of human thought, the evolution of human civilization even as seen through the mind of one of the most important if sadly almost forgotten literary figures of the 19th century. Popular American essayist, novelist, and journalist CHARLES DUDLEY WARNER (1829-1900) was renowned for the warmth and intimacy of his writing, which encompassed travelogue, biography, and autobiography, fiction and more, and influenced entire generations of his fellow writers. Here, the prolific writer turned editor for his final grand work, a splendid survey of global literature, classic and modern, and it's not too much to suggest that if his friend and colleague Mark Twain, who stole Warner's quip about how everybody complains about the weather but nobody does anything about it, had assembled this set, it would still be hailed today as one of the great achievements of the book world And so it still deserves to be Arranged not chronologically but alphabetically mostly under the names of authors but in some cases of literatures or special subjects such as Icelandic literature or Arthurian legend this set is no dry reference work These eminently browsable volumes available through Cosimo for the first time in decades in both paperback and hardcover editions are meant to be read and enjoyed by anyone who loves the written word Volume 45 features more synopses of notable works from Adam Bede by George Eliot to Zury The Meanest Man in Spring County by Joseph Kirkland including many not previously referenced in the set but highlighted as well worth a serious reader s time and attention This volume also includes a General Index to the 45 volume set Zombies!
