Visions of post-apocalyptic worlds have proved to be irresistible for many 21st-century writers, from literary novelists to fantasy and young adult writers. Exploring a wide range of texts from the works of Margaret Atwood, Cormac McCarthy, Tom Perrotta, and Emily St. John Mandel to young adult novels such as Suzanne Collins's The Hunger Games series, this is the first critical introduction to contemporary apocalyptic fiction. Exploring the cultural and political contexts of these writings and their echoes in popular media, Apocalyptic Fiction also examines how contemporary apocalyptic texts look back to earlier writings by the likes of Mary Shelley, H. G. Wells, and J. G. Ballard. Apocalyptic Fiction includes an annotated guide to secondary readings, making this an essential guide for students of contemporary fiction at all levels. Bodies in a Broken World Ann Folwell Stanford, 2004-07-21. In this multidisciplinary study, Ann Folwell Stanford reads literature written by U.S. women of color to propose a rethinking of modern medical practice, arguing that personal health and social justice are inextricably linked. Drawing on feminist ethics to explore the work of eleven novelists, Stanford challenges medicine to position itself more deeply within the communities it serves, especially the poor and marginalized. However, she also argues that medicine must recognize its limits and join forces with the nonmedical community in the struggle for social justice. In literary representations of physical and emotional states of illness and health,

Stanford identifies issues related to public health medical ethics institutionalized racism women s health domestic abuse and social justice that are important to discussions about how to improve health and health care She argues that in either direct or indirect ways the eleven novelists considered here push us to see health not only as an individual condition but also as a complex network of individual institutional and social changes in which wellness can be a possibility for the majority rather than a privileged few The novelists whose works are discussed are Toni Cade Bambara Paule Marshall Gloria Naylor Leslie Marmon Silko Toni Morrison Louise Erdrich Sandra Cisneros Bebe Moore Campbell Sapphire Ana Castillo and Octavia Butler
