Iggulden, 2016-05-19 The CD edition of War of the Roses Book One The thrilling first instalment in the Wars of the Roses series set at the beginnings of this turbulent period of English history which saw the throne change hands six times in thirty years The Swan sees Henry VI crowned King of England and married to the young French noblewoman Margaret of Anjou and so begins the extraordinary story of how England became a divided nation where brother took up arms against brother This was the war which defined the England we know today The Wars of the Roses series will be a landmark piece of historical fiction writing with all the intrigue drama and action which one expects from one of the biggest names in the genre This is Conn Iggulden at his finest The Book of the Axes George Philip Rigney Pulman, 1875 Malacca

Reminiscences Andrew Loh, 2015-12-19 Malacca Reminiscences My Story is a memoir of a resident of Malacca in the five decades after independence in 1957 of Malaysia from Britain Most books on Malacca hark back to the fifteenth century and the era of Parameswara founding the Sultanate of Malacca but very little on the modern events that have shaped Malacca to become very different from the sleepy hollow that it was The book captures the spirit of such a modern and vitalized city that has gained world heritage status While many tourists from overseas and other parts of Malaysia visit Malacca for a few days or a week they walk the streets of the town without understanding the layers of history that are hidden under these streets While describing the streets the bridges the foods and eateries the antiques shops and the nooks and corners of the town I have woven bits and pieces of my experiences as a resident of the town born and bred since the 1950s It is not a memoir per se but a tapestry of the story of Malacca stitched with anecdotes of personalities and ordinary folk of the town in the last fifty years A Malacca street like Heeren Street has many secrets to unfold and every house or building along this famous street has a worthy story to tell. It would be impossible to dig into the details of every house but the mansions of the rich and famous townships will be told. In short, this book of about 150 pages will paint Malacca in colors that are different from the average travel book from Lonely Planet or Fordor which are compendiums about cities but do not touch the heart of the matter. I have been influenced by the travel writings of Peter Jenkins and Bill Bryson whose travel books breathe life into the places they write about. I invite you to view Malacca through the panorama that I have personally tried to portray about my city Malacca. I have interspersed cameos of notable citizens of the city who have contributed to its development. Interesting snippets about my family and myself have been inserted in relevant chapters of the book. I have added some tables of statistics about people and places culled from my daily visits to the Internet. You will get an insight into how a new Malacca has arisen over the ancient town of the days of the Portuguese, the Dutch, and the British. The new commercial heart of the town, Melaka Raya, and the adjoining malls of Dataran Pahlawan and Mahkota Parade are just a stone's throw from the A Famosa Gateway. You will get an account of the stalled Gateway Island project said to cost 40 billion ringgit, a small version of Dubai's dazzling reclaimed island development. Napoleon is said to have derided Britain as a nation of shopkeepers. I will describe Malacca today as a city of hotels. This is not an overstatement, and my book will show you why.

The Morville Hours Katherine Swift, 2009-05-01. A sequel to The Morville Hours traces a year in the life of her garden at the Dower House in Shropshire, describing such evocative elements as the green shoots of renewing plants in March, the intoxicating smells of freshly mown grass, and the May flower festivals, in an account complemented by chapter opening illustrations and four inserts of color photographs.

Robert Thornton and His Books Susanna Fein, Michael Robert Johnston, 2014. Essays examining the compiler and contents of two of the most important and significant extant late medieval manuscript collections. The Yorkshire landowner Robert Thornton c. 1397–c. 1465 copied the contents of two important manuscripts: Lincoln Cathedral MS 91, the Lincoln manuscript, and London British Library MS Additional 31042, the London manuscript, in the middle decades of the fifteenth century. Viewed in combination, his books comprise a rare repository of varied English and Latin literary, religious, and medical texts that survived the dissolution of the monasteries when so many other medieval books were destroyed. Residing in the texts he copied and used are many indicators of what this gentleman scribe of the North Riding read, how he practised his religion, and what worldly values he held for himself and his family. Because of the extraordinary nature of his collected texts, Middle English romances, alliterative verse, the alliterative Morte Arthure, only exists here, lyrics, and treatises of religion or medicine. Editors and scholars have long been deeply interested in uncovering Thornton's habits as a private amateur scribe. The essays collected here provide for the first time a sustained, focussed light on Thornton and his books. They examine such matters as what Thornton as a scribe made, how he did it, and why he did it, placing him in a wider context and looking at the contents of the manuscripts. Susanna Fein is Professor of English at Kent State University. Michael Johnston is an Assistant Professor of English at Purdue University.
