Abstract: The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the physical and psychological characteristics of young women. The study was conducted in a laboratory setting. The subjects were 12 young women, aged 18-25, who were divided into two groups: a control group and an experimental group. The experimental group underwent a 12-week training program consisting of aerobic and strength training. The physical characteristics measured were maximum oxygen consumption ( $\dot{V}O_{2\max}$ ), maximum heart rate ( $\text{HR}_{\max}$ ), and maximum power output ( $\text{P}_{\max}$ ). The psychological characteristics measured were anxiety, depression, and self-esteem. The results showed that the experimental group had significantly higher values for  $\dot{V}O_{2\max}$ ,  $\text{HR}_{\max}$ , and  $\text{P}_{\max}$  compared to the control group. Additionally, the experimental group had significantly lower levels of anxiety and depression, and higher levels of self-esteem compared to the control group. The findings suggest that a 12-week training program can improve the physical and psychological characteristics of young women.
