Media Analysis and Public Health Lesley Henderson, Shona Hilton, Judith Green, 2020-06-29 This volume showcases new approaches to studying public health in traditional and emerging media suggesting that we need more analyses that focus on the production of media and on power dynamics as well as studies of audience reception of media messages The collection asks a variety of questions about the role of media in analysing public health Contributors ask who is influential in producing the stories we see in the press and on social media Who benefits and who is damaged by media debates on health topics They investigate the role of big business in seeking to shape public opinion and consumption in print and online media how issues such as hand washing come to be framed over time by newspapers how conflicts over immunisations get covered how health promotion messages do their work and the positive role of online media in helping foster drug safety Together they reach the conclusion that since mass media is a crucial element of civic society more in depth understanding of how it works and what impacts it has on public health is essential Given the crucial role of the media in shaping health debates pushing certain issues up the policy agenda defining problems for audiences and presenting potential solutions this book's analysis will be of interest to all those studying how the media shape policy as well as public health researchers with an interest in mass communication This book was originally published as a special issue of Critical Public Health

Traditional and Indigenous Knowledge for the Modern Era David R. Katerere, Wendy Applequist, Oluwaseyi M. Aboyade, Chamunorwa Togo, 2019-09-05 While there is talk of the Fourth Industrial Revolution old and new challenges bedevil the world climate change nutrition and health poverty being at the top of the list In seeking solutions to these and other problems which afflict the modern era it is worthwhile to look into our collective past to the traditions and knowledges of our ancestors Such knowledge continues to exist in many parts of the world though now marginalized by homogenous Eurocentric ontology and epistemology This book presents a compilation of reviews case studies and primary research attempting to locate the utility of traditional and Indigenous Knowledges in an increasingly complex world It assembles chapter authors from across the world to tackle topics ranging from traditional knowledge based innovations and commercialization traditional medicine systems as practiced around the world ethnoveterinary practices and food innovation to traditional governance and leadership systems among others This book is an important resource for policymakers scholars and researchers of cultural studies leadership governance ethnobotany anthropology plant genetic resources and technology innovation and readers interested in the history of knowledge and culture as well as cultural activists and political scientists Features Unique combination of social science and anthropological aspects with natural science perspectives Includes summaries aimed at policymakers to immediately see what would be relevant to their work Combines case studies illuminating important lessons learned with reviews and primary data Multidisciplinary in the scope of the topics tackled and assemblage of contributors Global footprint with contributions from Africa Europe North America Asia and the West Indies David R Katerere Department of Pharmaceutical Sciences Tshwane University of Technology South Africa Wendy Applequist William L Brown Center Missouri Botanical Garden St Louis Missouri Oluwaseyi M Aboyade Department of Pharmaceutical Sciences Tshwane University of Technology South Africa and Nutritica SA The Innovation Hub Pretoria South Africa Chamunorwa Togo The Innovation Hub Pretoria South Africa Civil Society and Peacebuilding in Sub-Saharan Africa in the Anthropocene Jean Chrysostome K. Kiyala, Geoff Thomas Harris, 2022-04-22 This book examines civil society's peacebuilding role in sub-Saharan Africa in the context of climate change and the pursuit of environmental peace and justice in the Anthropocene. Five main research themes emerge from its 20 chapters: The roles of environmental peacemaking, environmental justice, ecological education and eco ethics in helping to mitigate the impacts of climate change; Peacebuilding by CSOs after violent conflicts with particular reference to accountability, reconciliation and healing; CSO involvement in democratic processes and political transition after violent conflicts; Relationships between local CSOs and their foreign funders and the interactions between CSOs and the African Union's peace and security architecture; The particular role of faith-based CSOs. The book underlines the centrality of dialogue to African peacebuilding and the indigenous wisdom and philosophies on which it is based. Such wisdom will be a key resource in confronting the existential challenges of the Anthropocene. The book will be a significant resource for researchers, academics and policymakers concerned with the challenge of climate change, its interactions with armed conflict and the peacebuilding role of CSOs. This pathbreaking book shows why peacebuilding analysis and efforts need to be urgently re-oriented towards the existential challenges of environmental peace and justice. It explains the emerging conceptual frameworks which are needed for this new role. It explains the critical role that CSOs, local and international, will play in implementing this new peacebuilding approach with particular reference to sub-Saharan Africa.

Administrative Law in Action Robert Thomas, 2022-02-10 This book investigates and analyses how administrative law works in practice through a detailed case study and evaluation of one of the UK's largest and most important administrative agencies, the immigration department. In doing so, the book broadens the conversation of administrative law beyond the courts to include how administrative agencies themselves make, apply and enforce the law. Blending theoretical and empirical administrative legal analysis, the book demonstrates why we need to pay closer attention to what government agencies actually do, how they do it, how they are organised and held to account. Taking a contextual approach, the book provides a detailed analysis of how the immigration department performs its core functions of making policy and law, taking mass casework decisions and enforcing immigration law. The book considers major recent episodes of immigration administration, including the development of the hostile environment policy and the treatment of the Windrush generation. By examining a diverse range of material, the book presents a model of administrative law based upon the organisational competence and capacity of administration and its institutional design. Alongside diagnosing the immigration department's failings, the book advances positive proposals for its reform.

Oxford Textbook of Neurologic and Neuropsychiatric Epidemiology Carol Brayne, Valery Feigin, Lenore Launer, Giancarlo Logroscino, 2021 Neurologic and neuropsychiatric disorders are of great importance to societies and they also raise special considerations in epidemiological research methodology. Not only do neurologic and neuropsychiatric disorders form a major group of disorders associated with ageing populations but those disorders that occur in earlier life can be associated with severe individual family and societal distress and burden The inter relationship of syndromes and disorders is a topic of major interest and growing biological insights across psychiatry and neurology This includes not only overlaps in neurodegenerative syndromes but also those related to other systems such as metabolic inflammatory immune and vascular disorders Part of the Oxford Textbooks in Clinical Neurology series the Oxford Textbook of Neurologic and Neuropsychiatric Epidemiology is designed to focus on the overlaps and inter relationships between neuro epidemiological disorders as well as on ways to harmonise large cohort studies to maximise opportunities for determining causes related to rarer disorders Divided into three main parts the book covers 1 the principles of neurologic and neuropsychiatric epidemiology 2 specific neuropsychiatric disorders and their inter relationships and 3 the implications of neuro epidemiologic research for patient populations and current medical practice This comprehensive work serves as an invaluable reference to current neuro epidemiological methods for neurologists psychiatrists and senior trainees in those disciplines as well as public health practitioners and students with an interest in neurology and neuropsychiatry

Defiant Bodies Nikoli A. Attai, 2023-07-14 In the Anglophone Caribbean international queer human rights activists strategically located within and outside of the region have dominated interventions seeking to address issues affecting people across the region a trend that is premised on an idea that the Caribbean is extremely homophobic and transphobic resulting in violence and death for people who defy dominant sexual and gender boundaries Human rights activists continue to utilize international financial and political resources to influence these interventions and the region's engagement on issues of homophobia transphobia discrimination and the HIV AIDS epidemic This focus however elides the deeply complex nature of queerness across different spaces and places and fails to fully account for the nuances of queer sexual and gender politics and community making across the Caribbean Defiant Bodies Making Queer Community in the Anglophone Caribbean problematizes the neocolonial and homoimperial nature of queer human rights activism in in four Anglophone Caribbean nations Barbados Guyana Jamaica and Trinidad and Tobago and thinks critically about the limits of human rights as a tool for seeking queer liberation It also offers critical insight into the ways that queer people negotiate resist and disrupt homophobia transphobia and discrimination by mobilizing on the ground and creating transgressive communities within the region
