The Self, the Lord, and the Other according to Paul and Epictetus Michael J. Gorman, 2023-03-29 This study explores the relationship between the individual person the self the divine and other people in the writings of the apostle Paul and the Roman Stoic Epictetus It does so by examining self involving actions expressed with reflexive pronouns myself yourself etc in various kinds of sentences for example Examine yourself and You do not belong to yourself After situating the topic within the fields of linguistics and ancient Greek the study then examines the reflexive constructions in Epictetus s Discourses showing that reflexive texts express fundamental aspects of his ethic of rational self interest in imitation of the indwelling rational deity Next the investigation examines the 109 reflexive constructions in Paul providing an exegesis of each reflexive text and then synthesizing the results Paul s reflexive phrases are essential statements of his theology and ethics expressing an interconnected narrative Christology narrative apostolic identity and narrative ethic Most importantly the study finds that for Epictetus concern for others is a rational means to self realization whereas for Paul concern for others is a community ethic grounded in the story of the indwelling Christ and is the antithesis of self interest

Teaching the Spoken Language Gillian Brown, George Yule, 1983-11-24 In this book the authors examine the nature of spoken language and how it differs from written language both in form and purpose A large part of it is concerned with principles and techniques for teaching spoken production and listening comprehension An important chapter deals with how to assess spoken language The principles and techniques described apply to the teaching of English as a foreign and second language and are also highly relevant to the teaching of the mother tongue

Linguistics Victoria A. Fromkin, Donca Steriade, Pamela Munro, Bruce Hayes, Susan Curtiss, Anna Szabolcsi, Tim Stowell, Edward Stabler, Dominique Sportiche, Hilda Koopman, Patricia Keating, Nina Hyams, 2001-08-22 Linguistics An Introduction to Linguistic Theory is a textbook written for introductory courses in linguistic theory for undergraduate linguistics majors and first year graduate students Twelve major figures in the field bring their expertise to each of the core areas of the field morphology syntax semantics phonetics phonology and language acquisition In each section the book is concerned with discussing the underlying principles common to all languages showing how these are revealed in language acquisition and in the specific grammars of the world's languages. Theoretical concepts are introduced through the analysis of a wide set of language data from Arabic to Zulu. The student will learn how to do linguistics by working through real linguistic data. Each section explains how to define and solve a problem, organizes the data into paradigms revealing the structured patterns in the data, formulates generalizations based on these patterns, proposes rules or principles to account for the generalization, seeks independent evidence in its argument for the proposed theoretical construct. The book brings the latest developments in theoretical linguistics to bear in its discussion of the traditional issues. It covers these subjects in greater depth than is found in most introductory texts, permitting the student to proceed directly after using this text to graduate courses in the field. It contains problems, a glossary, and a bibliography for further reading. Linguistics is supported by an instructor's manual.
