

Reaction Rates and Equilibrium Study Guide

ANSWER KEY

1. Describe how each of the following factors would affect the rate of a chemical reaction in terms of "particle collisions" in your response.
 - a. Temperature decreases If temperature decreases, the particles will move slower and there will be less reactant particle collisions AND a smaller percentage of collisions will have enough energy to produce a reaction. The reaction rate will therefore decrease.
 - b. Addition of iodide ions, I^- , as a catalyst The presence of the catalyst provides an alternative pathway for the reaction taking place. This means that a larger percentage of collisions will have enough energy to produce a reaction. The reaction rate will therefore increase.
 - c. Increased reactant concentration With more reactant particles present, there are more collisions between those particles. This means the reaction rate will increase.
 - d. Crushing a solid into a powder (with larger surface area) As a powder, there is more surface area for collisions to take place. This means there will be more collisions and therefore a faster reaction rate.
2. The reaction progress diagram shows the energy changes that take place when 1 mole of nitrogen dioxide gas reacts with 1 mole of carbon monoxide gas to form 1 mole of carbon dioxide gas and 1 mole of nitrogen gas.
