Technical Abstract Bulletin , Scientific and Technical Aerospace Reports ,1979 How We Learn Benedict Carey,2014-09-09 In the tradition of The Power of Habit and Thinking Fast and Slow comes a practical playful and endlessly fascinating guide to what we really know about learning and memory today and how we can apply it to our own lives From an early age it is drilled into our heads Restlessness distraction and ignorance are the enemies of success We re told that learning is all self discipline that we must confine ourselves to designated study areas turn off the music and maintain a strict ritual if we want to ace that test memorize that presentation or nail that piano recital But what if almost everything we were told about learning is wrong And what if there was a way to achieve more with less effort In How We Learn award winning science reporter Benedict Carey sifts through decades of education research and landmark studies to uncover the truth about how our brains absorb and retain information What he discovers is that from the moment we are born we are all learning quickly efficiently and automatically but in our zeal to systematize the process we have ignored valuable naturally enjoyable learning tools like forgetting sleeping and daydreaming Is a dedicated desk in a quiet room really the best way to study Can altering your routine improve your recall Are there times when distraction is good Is repetition necessary Carey s search for answers to these questions yields a wealth of strategies that make learning more a part of our everyday lives and less of a chore By road testing many of the counterintuitive techniques described in this book Carey shows how we can flex the neural muscles that make deep learning possible Along the way he reveals why teachers should give final exams on the first day of class why it s wise to interleave subjects and concepts when learning any new skill and when it s smarter to stay up late prepping for that presentation than to rise early for one last cram session And if this requires some suspension of disbelief that s because the research defies what we ve been told throughout our lives about how best to learn The brain is not like a muscle at least not in any straightforward sense It is something else altogether sensitive to mood to timing to circadian rhythms as well as to location and environment It doesn t take orders well to put it mildly If the brain is a learning machine then it is an eccentric one In How We Learn Benedict Carey shows us how to exploit its quirks to our advantage
