The engines are fitted with a heat exchanger for thermodynamic cooling. The heat exchanger is located in the engine block, cylinder heads and exhaust manifold. The exhaust manifold cooling jacket is designed so that it also cools the exhaust pipes.

The engines are lubricated by means of a pressure lubrication system, where an oil pump supplies lubricating oil to all the lubricating points in the correct quantities at all engine speeds. The pistons in the T6-type engines are cooled by oil film through special cooling nozzles in the engine block.

The cover part of the crankcase functions as an oil collector.

The fuel system is well protected from interruptions during running by means of an electric, replaceable fuel filter. On the TAMD60 engines the fuel injection pump is large mounted under the other engine from the pump fitted on a bracket.
