Religion & Identity Politics: Global Trends And Local Realities Mathews Mathew, Melvin Tay, 2021-06-18 Discourse on fundamentalism has gained much attention in recent years particularly in a post 9 11 context where extremist or terrorist threats are more prominent perilous and pervasive This edited volume seeks to spotlight the perspectives of academics and practitioners vis vis global trends in religious fundamentalism and right wing extremism over the past decade It presents a collection of works from notable academics and practitioners including a selection of case studies from Asia to illustrate the contemporary interplay of religion politics and identity alongside broader global trends of religious fundamentalism The chapters that follow attempt to trace the sources and factors that led to the dramatic rise in these powerful forces of faith which influence societies and politics around the world Together they present a carefully curated narrative of the interplay of religion and identity politics globally and across Asia The prevailing differences in demographics history and the extent of ethno religious diversity across country contexts are perused across each chapter and the ensuing circumstances deliberated upon As these circumstances change the ways people interpret their identities engage in politics and navigate their religion will also evolve How we manage the effects of religious fundamentalism must hence begin with an understanding of how religion identity and politics interact and this is what the upcoming chapters seek to illustrate

A Jew in Gaza Allan J. Alonzo Wind, 2024-07-22 This is the unique story of how A J Alonzo Wind retired Foreign Service Officer and international development executive assumed the position of Mission Director for International Medical Corps in the occupied Palestinian territories living in Gaza and East Jerusalem during 2022 and 2023 It offers a view into Gaza few have had as an American Jew as a Baha'i as a humanitarian living under the threats of the interminable conflicts between Israel and Gaza Mr Wind lived through multiple escalations and Israeli counterstrikes and negotiated a fine line of diplomacy and international humanitarian law between Israeli civil and military authorities and the de facto authority in Gaza represented by Hamas A JEW IN GAZA Humanitarian Assistance Hubris and Horrors is a nonfiction narrative memoir discussing the two years lived in Gaza and the occupied Palestinian territories in 2022 and 2023 through repeated conflict and escalation up to including and beyond the October 7 attack and the current war between Israel and Gaza. Leading a 10 million health and humanitarian assistance program there, Mr. Wind shares insights about the realities and paradoxes of Gaza and how we struggled to provide humanitarian assistance in the face of conflict and the dangers to innocent civilians. He describes what it was like in this milieu of extremism and hostility. This war did not start on 10/7; however, murderous and brutal the Hamas terror attack, there is in fact a long history behind it. There has been death and violence on both sides that have blinded leaders to the needs and rights of the innocents. This book testifies to a frequent pattern of violation of international humanitarian law by Israel as well as the corruption and dangers from Hamas, the Palestinian National Authority, and other extremist groups. Mr. Wind's own unique position as the only American Jew actually based in Gaza weaves a fine line between the shared legacy and claims of the Israelis and the Palestinians. Don't look for a partisan or ideological polemic here; he brings to bear a balanced perspective and a call for action in terms of reconciling hated enemies, honoring the long burden of dispossession and exile of the Palestinians, and coming to grips with which options actually can secure the long-term safety, security, and future of both peoples in this tormented land. A portion of the proceeds from your purchase will go to support international humanitarian efforts.

Prison Segregation Ellie Brown, 2023-04-21. Prison Segregation: The Limits of Law explores the use of segregation in English prisons by examining how law is used and experienced and how human rights are upheld. It draws on empirical research through interviews with staff and prisoners to understand how law works or not in a site of the prison which is traditionally characterised by real imbalances of power. The book draws on one of the first research studies of its kind: an in-depth ethnographic study of law culture and norms within the segregation unit. It adopts a socio-legal perspective to explore i) how segregation is and should be used in prisons and how the law sets the parameters of that usage in theory; ii) the complex web of laws and rules as they apply to segregation and their relationship with the actors responsible for their implementation; iii) how laws and rules can be undermined by the culture and context within which they are implemented. It relies on the voices of prisoners and staff as well as observations and descriptions to bring experiences to life. The accounts from staff and prisoners, sometimes joyous, sometimes harrowing, provide a rich and rare insight into the segregation unit. It provides access to and insights into parts of our criminal justice system which are typically impenetrable. Whilst it is an academic study of law and power in segregation units and prison, more broadly it is also a very human account of lived experiences. The book is multi-disciplinary in nature and will appeal to those with an interest in law, sociology, criminology, and psychology. It will also appeal to those seeking to understand socio-legal research methods in the field of criminal justice. However, the book is also pragmatic and has a number of recommendations which would be of interest to practitioners, lawyers, prison managers, and policy makers.
